Thomas Carr Howe

High School

Indianapolis, Indiana

Volume 25

Across the bridge and along the curving walk, our beautiful campus reveals Howe's goals and aims. To the left of the tower is the magnificent auditorium which shows the emphasis on creative student expression. The entire length of the central building is classroom windows mirroring the schools standards of academic achievement. To the right of the tower, the cinder track and new football stadium reveal the school's desire for physical fitness, athletic competition, and the student body's support. At the end of the walk is the tower, the center of the campus and the symbol of spirit and dedication to Thomas Carr Howe High School.

The class of 1966 celebrated their first day as seniors with a breakfast. This was the beginning of many senior activities.

The First Day Back— Seeing Old Friends, Filling Out Forms

Pushed by the late summer heat, and pulled by the early autumn wind, school begins and life quickens. Returning from jobs, foreign travel, or simple idleness, students once again are picked up by school's excitement and challenge. The halls, so long empty and quiet, are overflowing with tanned students, their laughter and discussion; the classrooms, so long vacant and still, are transformed into hubs of learning and working; the cafeteria, so long without the aroma of food, is replenished with hungry students; the teacher and students parking lots, so long unused and unoccupied, are again teeming with cars. For the first few days, the focal point of the school is the bookstore, where everyone tries to get prepared for the first week's onslaught of homework. Circles of friends can be seen forming along the halls, trying to catch up on all the news and happenings of the summer. There are always those that have not fully realized that summer is over, but soon everyone is functioning and happy in the school routine.

Every semester students get writer's cramp from filling out material which is tedious and tiring to students and faculty.

With the issue of new semester schedules comes the headache of program changes and correction of mistakes for students.

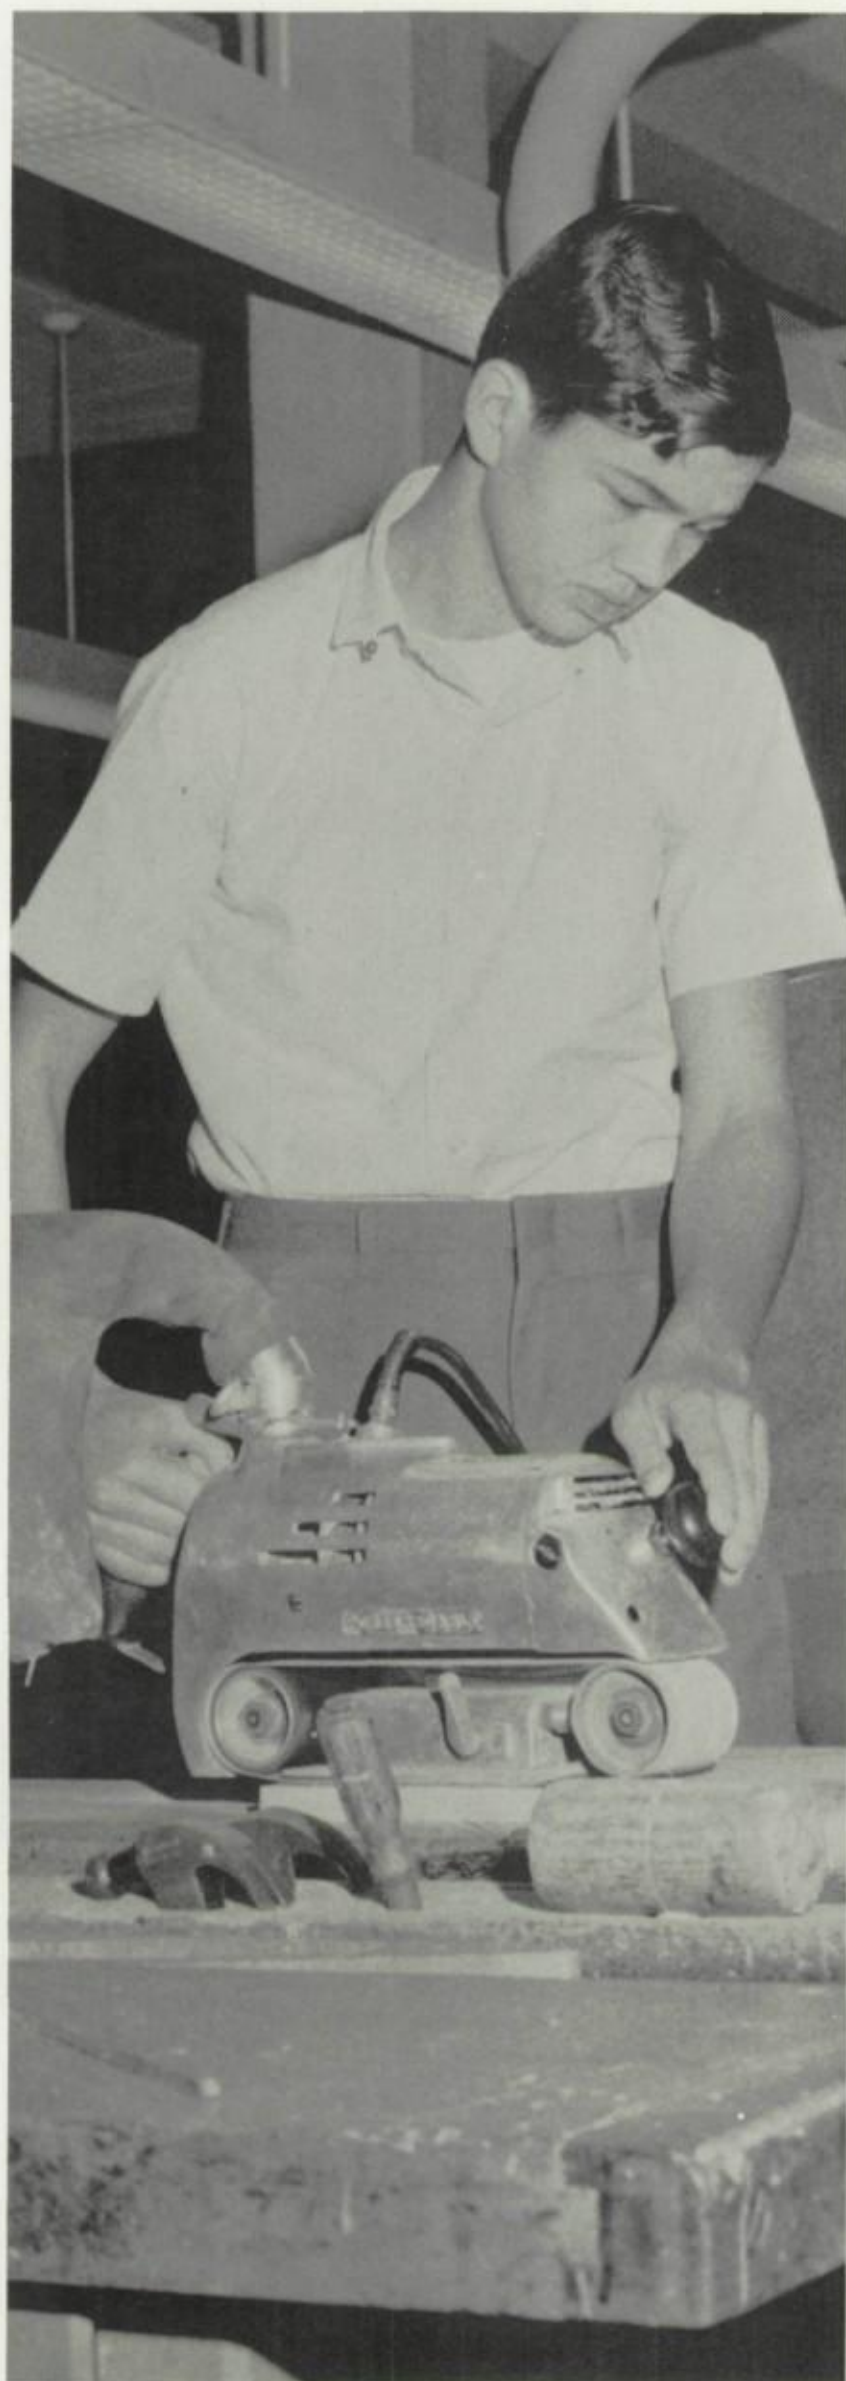

The first day of school brings a day of turmoil for all. It includes the frantic rush to the bookstore to buy new books.

The new school year brings back the routine of studying, but the enjoyment of laughing and talking to friends is not lost.

Attending Lectures

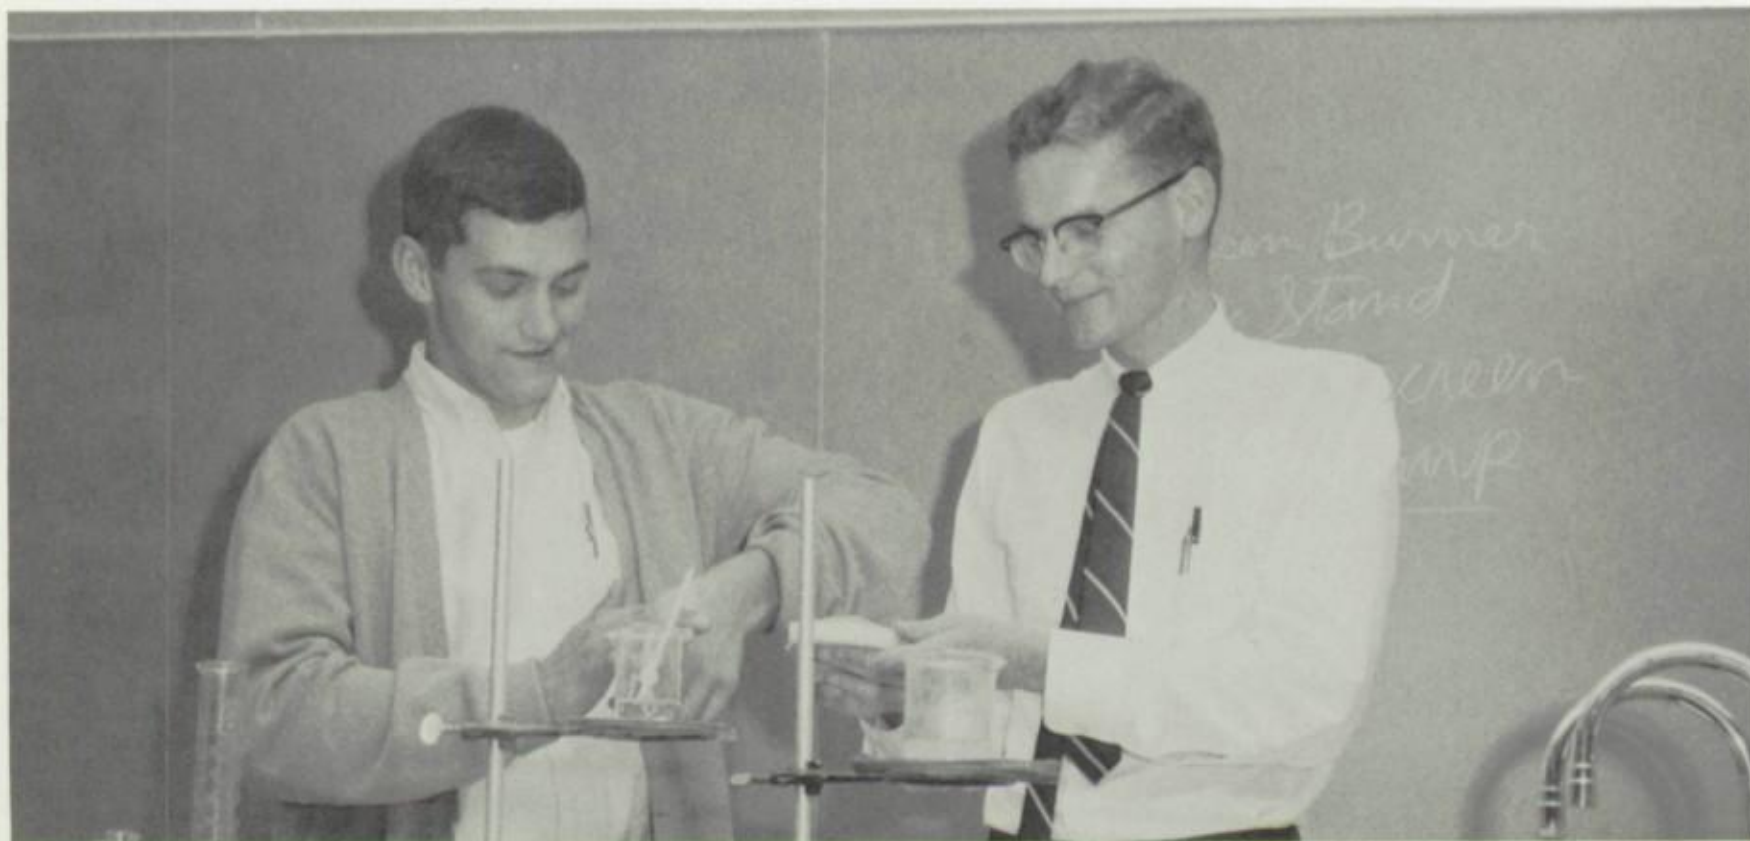

The buzz of wood saw and the odor of sodium bisulfate herald in the new year's classes. From the gym to the science lecture room, classes are in full swing soon after the beginning of the year. While the incoming freshmen get a strong taste of high school grammar, the seniors and juniors receive instruction on great literary works. Every student taking a math course discovers once again how much one can forget over the summer, and searches for a student in a more advanced course to help him out. Strange, foreign sounds drift from the top floor language labs, where students try to master simple conversational skills. In the art department, dexterous students perfect their skills in many different fields. The gym classes offer physical challenges to all freshmen and energetic upperclassmen. So whether the student's interest be music, business practices, home economics, or ROTC, Howe's enthusiastic teachers aid the student in the development of skills in any field of endeavor.

The foreign language lab is a great help to many students. The lab aids in pronunciation with the use of tape recorders.

Building coffeetables, steptables, cabinets and cedar chests keep the boys busy everyday during woodshop.

And Learning To Study—Are Classes

Fundamental science courses provide Howe students with valuable information in the fields of biology, physics, and chemistry. Learning how to mix several chemicals, balancing equations, and handling acids properly is the chemistry students' objective.

Art classes offer the opportunity to express one's self through drawing, sketching, and painting.

Rallying Enthusiasm, Joining Organizations, Are School Activities

The drum major is the symbol of Howe's traditions. He directs the band at all important functions.

Outside of the classroom, students have the opportunity to pursue their interests further. After-school clubs encompass any students interest and create much individual competition. Rivalry with other schools is keen in many fields, especially for the debate and speech teams who have excelled in both dual and state meets. The whole school enjoys supporting athletics and during basketball and football seasons, the success of our teams is a constant topic of conversation. Our band and drill team always add spirit to the games, and provide an entertaining half-time show. In addition to sports and the band, there are many activities: a fall play, a musical production, a variety show, the mock election, honoraries including Quill and Scroll, and National Honor Society; so many activities, in fact, that each student is insured of having an organization in which he can learn and participate.

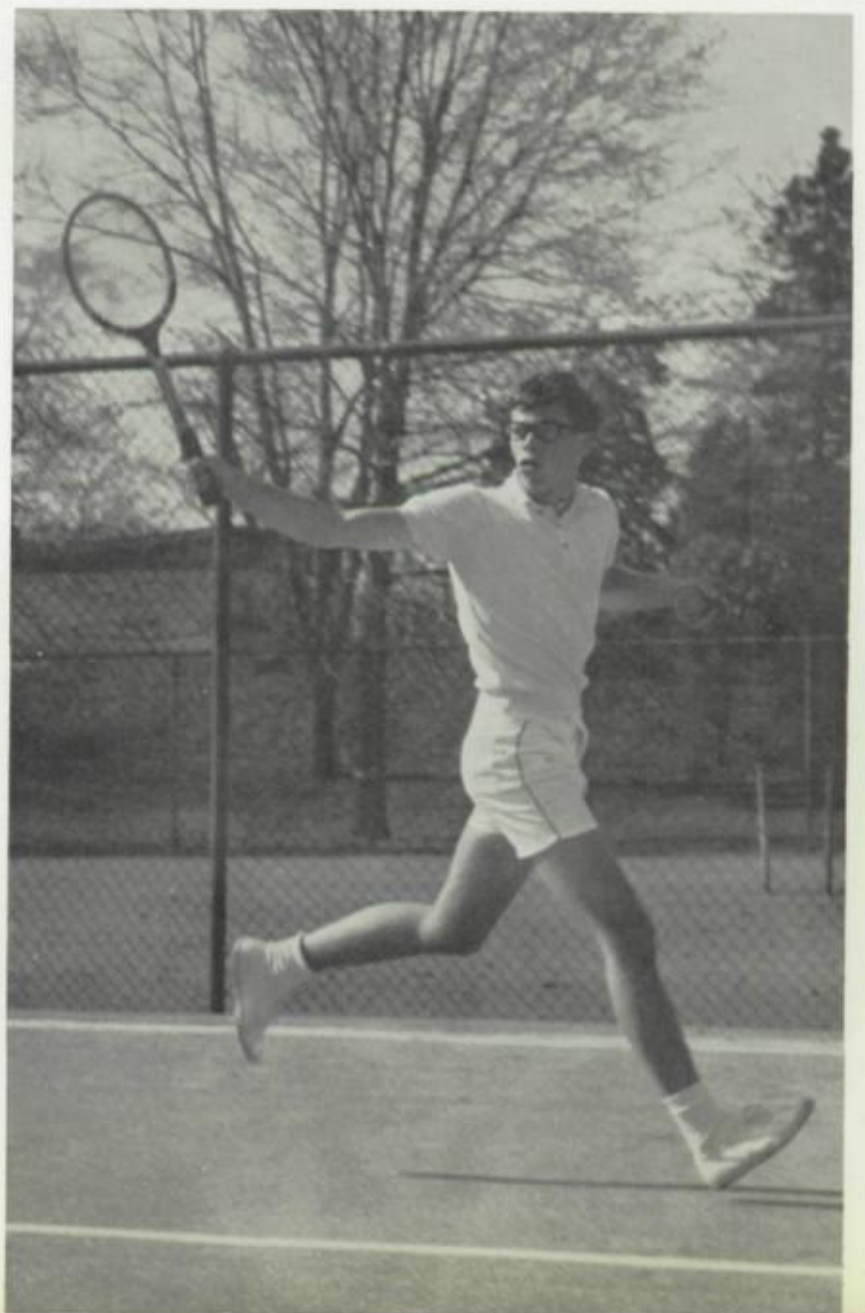

Counselors and teachers help students with inquiries and problems concerning schedules and school life.

The newest addition to the Howe campus is the football stadium which saw five home victories this season.

Tennis is one of the several spring sports offered at Howe. Every evening the team can be seen practicing at Ellenburger.

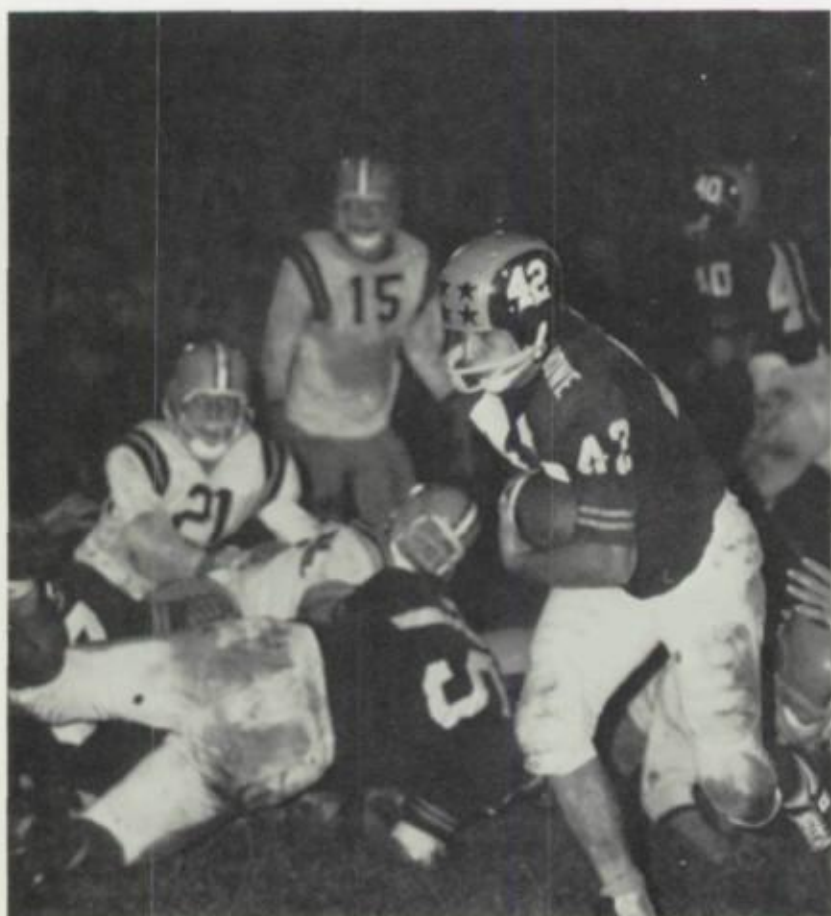

Supporting Our Athletes—Is Sports

Howe's athletics enthusiasm can be seen throughout the year: the grim-faced line of harriers on the treacherous cross-country course around Christian Park in the fall; the trained, sinewy wrestlers on the mats in the gym during the winter; the hardworking baseball and tennis teams creating a whirlwind of excitement and activity at Ellenberger in the spring. A standing monument to the community's spirit is the magnificent football stadium in which the Howe football team had the most successful season in recent years. The tense moments at the track meets, the bristling excitement of a last minute full-court press at sectional time, a long, rolling putt that just reached the hole—these are the moments that comprised a memorable year of athletics. What really makes Howe athletics a worthwhile activity is not only the successes achieved, but the determination and dedication by which these victories are earned.

A game of skill and endurance, baseball is a popular sport. Ellenburger is the scene for many contests.

Hard work, tedious practice, and unrelentless enthusiasm make any sport a successful adventure, especially in track.

This years winning football team brought enthusiasm to a high pitch for both fans and players.

Dancing, Sledding, Meeting With Friends, Fill Students Life

The Brown and Gold dance and the Junior and Senior Proms officially begin and end the social season at Howe. In addition to the formal school functions, friends get together in all activities, at any time and any place. Howe students can be seen sledding down the golf course hills; laughing and having a "blast" at parties; careening down streets on speeding skate boards; snuggled warmly together on cold autumn hayrides or around campfires; "buzzing" the local drive-in; huddled ten strong around a table inside a dimly-lit restaurant after a football or basketball game . . . Wherever there is action, movement, or excitement you will find Howe students. But one finds that the truly successful student, the one who has both a good time and is respected by his peers, is the student that combines an active social life with a conscientious attitude towards scholastics and a sincere effort for outstanding personal development.

The soft lights, quiet music, and good company make each Howe dance a memory not soon to be forgotten.

Summertime finds Howe students anxious to participate in any and every kind of unusual activity.

Bundled in blankets and sweatshirts, these shivering teenagers try to keep warm in front of the fire after an autumn hayride.

After games and other evening activities, many Howeites can be seen at one of the many popular drive-ins around the city.

After each snowfall, happy teens can be seen with sleds and pasteboard boxes, anxious to test the slopes. The golf course was the scene for many gatherings.

Achieving Honors And Winning Awards

The 1965 quiz team could often be heard on "Expedition to Knowledge" on WLW-I. This years team was city champs.

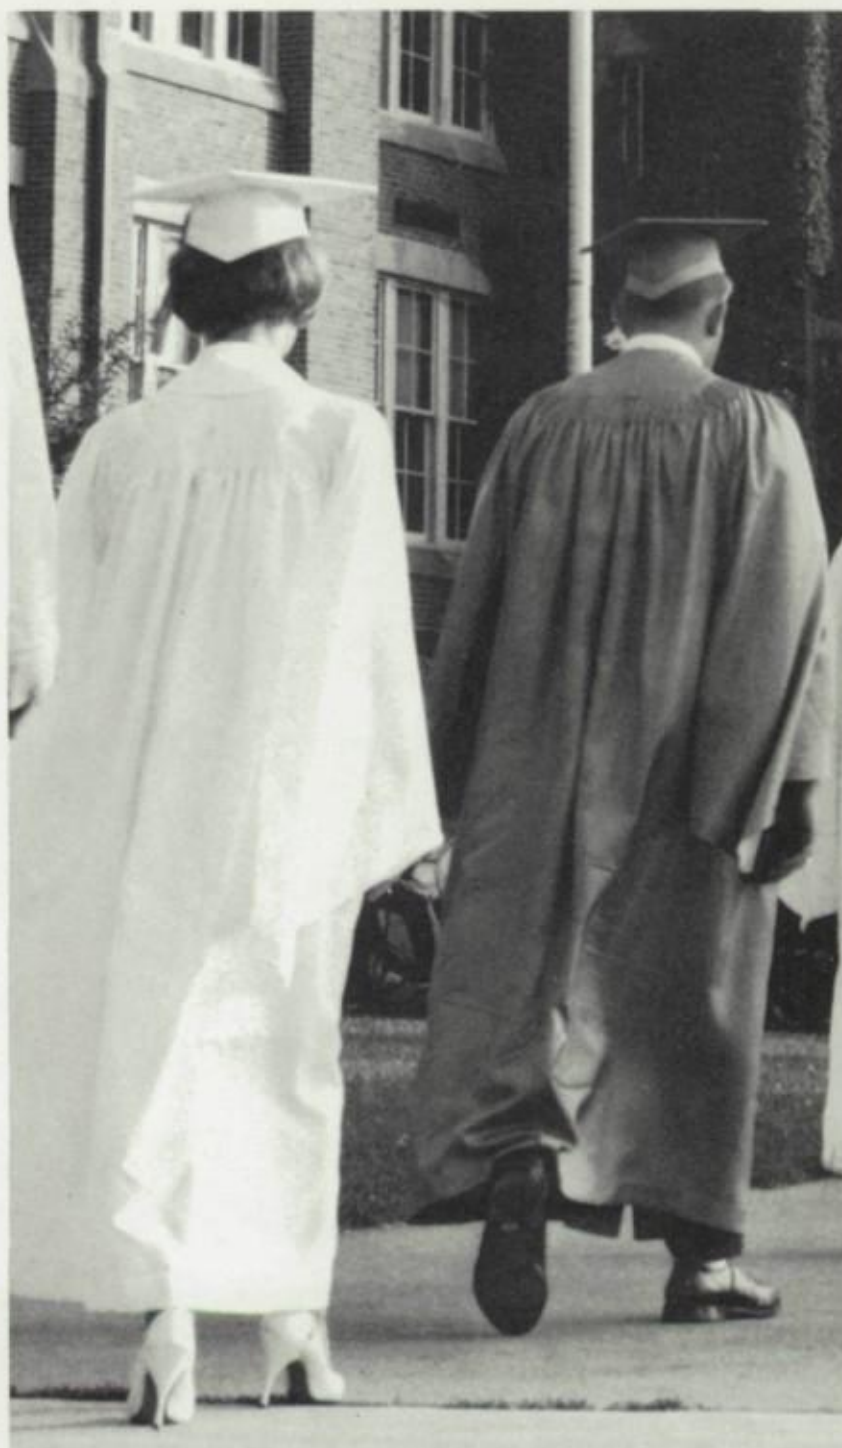

This years award winners were Mary Beth Otto, selected for the senior DAR award, Joyce Brandt, an American Legion Good Citizen, Susan Tandy who obtained the Altrusa Award, and Lynn Anderson who was a junior DAR winner.

Rate High At Howe

For those who excel in academics and who are outstanding leaders and citizens in their school, there are opportunities and honors awaiting. Perhaps the best known organization is the National Honor Society, a service organization consisting of juniors and seniors with high grade averages and outstanding character. Also a position on the four member quiz team is the goal of many students, and because of this competition, the Howe team has had a superb record in recent years.

Each year the students vote to determine the recipients of the DAR and American Legion awards for citizenship and leadership. These civic groups also sponsor two boys and a girl chosen by the faculty to attend Hoosier Boys' State and Girls' State during the summer for a week of experience and participation in government. All of these things—classes, activities, sports, social life, and service—make graduation the experience that is remembered by each student always.

Seniors proudly wear caps and gowns and march to the sound of Pomp and Circumstance as the big day finally comes.

Seniors Mark Gerzon, Fred Johnson, and Sue Amick attended the Hoosier Boys' State and Girls' State. These students were chosen on the basis of citizenship and scholarship.

ACADEMICS

The main purpose of a school is informing, instructing, training, and consequently obtaining knowledge and learning. Classes achieve these purposes: informing those who are naive and unaware of the world about them; instructing, giving directions, allowing the road to knowledge to be better lighted; training the future generations to think for themselves enabling them to discover how to study and thereby learning, which is the key element of any school and of course the desired goal. Classes are a school. This is evident, without them these purposes would be useless and impossible to achieve.

Much research material is available in the library. Junior Chris Elliott finds help in writing his vocational theme.

Mr. Tobin strikes a familiar pose in one of his derivatives classes. Etymology is a popular course with students.

English 3, 5, And 7

The English Department, headed by Miss Ellen O'Drain has made a few changes in curriculum. In addition to English 1 through 8, English 9 and 10 have been added. Both are elective courses and may be taken after English 6. English 9 is an advanced composition course. English 10 covers world literature. These classes are of great value to students preparing for college. Journalism has become an elective and is no longer a substitute for English 5. It is good experience for future journalists planning to work on the Tower or Hilltopper staffs.

Other courses offered by the English department are Speech 1 and 2, and Debate 1 and 2. These subjects give training and experience to those who compete in speech meets held at various schools throughout the year. Dramatics 1 and 2 are of interest to those with talent in the staging and acting fields. Etymology, formerly known as derivatives, has become one of the most popular courses at Howe. It is the study of Greek and Latin word stems. Etymology aids a student in his everyday speech and home work assignment and is a valuable aid when taking SAT tests.

Students spend many hours in the library each year. With its abundance of up-to-date books, magazines, and other research materials, it serves Howe pupils well.

Require Vocational, Research Themes

Miss Kittleson captures her students' interest as she explains and demonstrates the answer to a student's question.

Ellen O'Drain—English department head, Donald R. Austin, Harlette Baker, Elizabeth Baldwin, Bruce L. Beck, Marcia Blair, Elinor Bretzlaff, Steven T. Briggs, Judith Eaton, John Ervin, Patricia Fisher, Patricia Fitzpatrick, Sharon A. Jones, Rhoda Kittelsen, Wayne Mellott, Ruth Mercer, Linda Milburn, Mary J. Pride, Virginia Selewach, Dorothy Smith, Hal C. Tobin, Jack Weaver. Masters degrees are held by 85 percent of the staff.

National Forensic League is a speech honorary. The chapter at Howe has been active for two years; there are one thousand chapters in the United States. A pupil must obtain twenty-five speaker points to become eligible for membership in the organization.

The Debate Team is a part of the National Forensic League. They meet twice a month with their sponsor, Mr. Steven Briggs. Our squad competes with debate teams from schools throughout the state on the national debate topic. The topic this year is compulsory arbitration of labor management disputes.

Howe has been represented in the state finals for the last several years in either solo or team work. This is a record all Howeites should be proud of. NFL has proven to be a vital part of activities.

Speech class gives pupils confidence as well as teaching them how to express their opinions in organized talks.

English Classes Interest Many Pupils

Mrs. Judith Eaton, a member of the English department, lectures her students on grammar and literature.

As head of the English department, Miss O'Drain has many responsibilities including advanced English courses.

Dramatics class gives acting skill and poise to Peggy Owen, who has appeared in several plays.

Foreign Language

Mary E. Thumma—Foreign Language department head, Vesta R. Cohee, Susan Garver, Raymond Hulce, Andrew W. Ramsey, Martha Sauer. Miss Thumma attended a four-week institute, called Leaders in Foreign Language, at I.U. this summer. Many language teachers attend these institutes to improve their teaching techniques. Howe feels that this department works hard to improve education.

Our Foreign Language Department which teaches French, Spanish, and Latin is one of the best in the city. Howe students take their language seriously and many of them have taken trips to either Mexico or France during many summers past. Indiana University sponsors this foreign language program for excellent language students. Howe students who participated in the program last summer were Dan Meek and Sandy Vickers. Danny spent eight weeks in Mexico, while Sandy lived in France. Our modern language labs are well-equipped with microphones and tape recorders devised to aid students in comprehension and pronunciation.

The language laboratory is one of the fine audio-visual aids that Howe offers to its foreign language students. Shown here is Mrs. Sauer preparing for a weekly session with a class.

Classes Are Carried On With Vigor

Gustavo Vinuesa and Peggy Owen lead a discussion in advanced Spanish and answer questions about Venezuela.

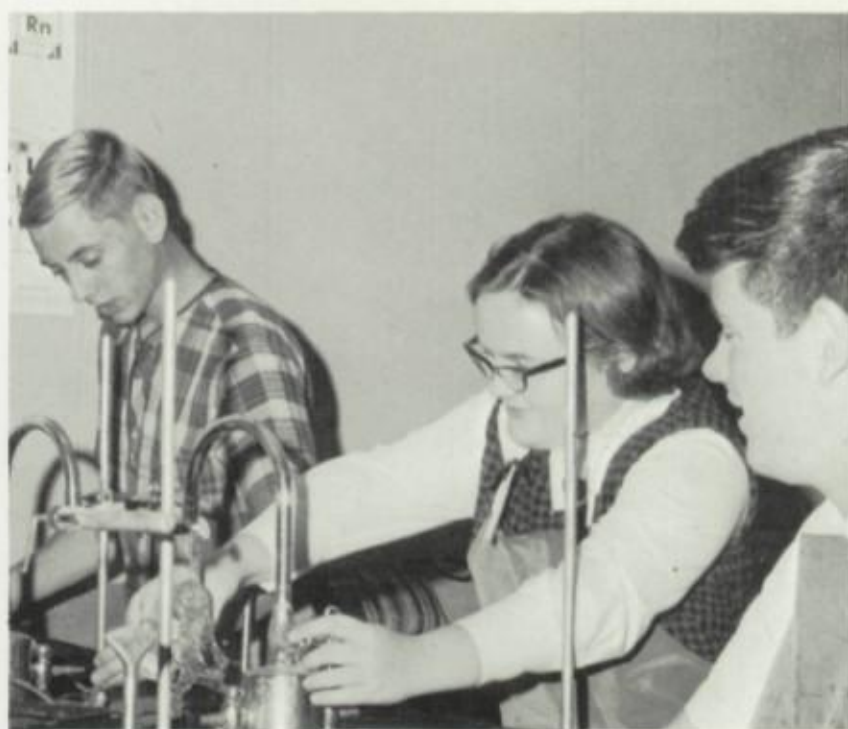

Dan Meek and Sandy Vickers treasure the memories from their trips to Mexico and France on the I. U. Honors Program.

Circle discussion groups are a familiar sight in Mrs. Cohee's Latin classes. This technique aids student participation and class interest.

Lab experiments aid chemistry students in understanding what is involved in the reactions which are described in the book. Partners Dave Cashe and Carol Cotton set up apparatus for a lab while Bob Browning pauses to evaluate just what the experiment should show them.

Biology is a required course taken by many sophomores. In a lab period Kurt Wells uses a microscope to view living protozoans which he is attempting to draw for a lab project.

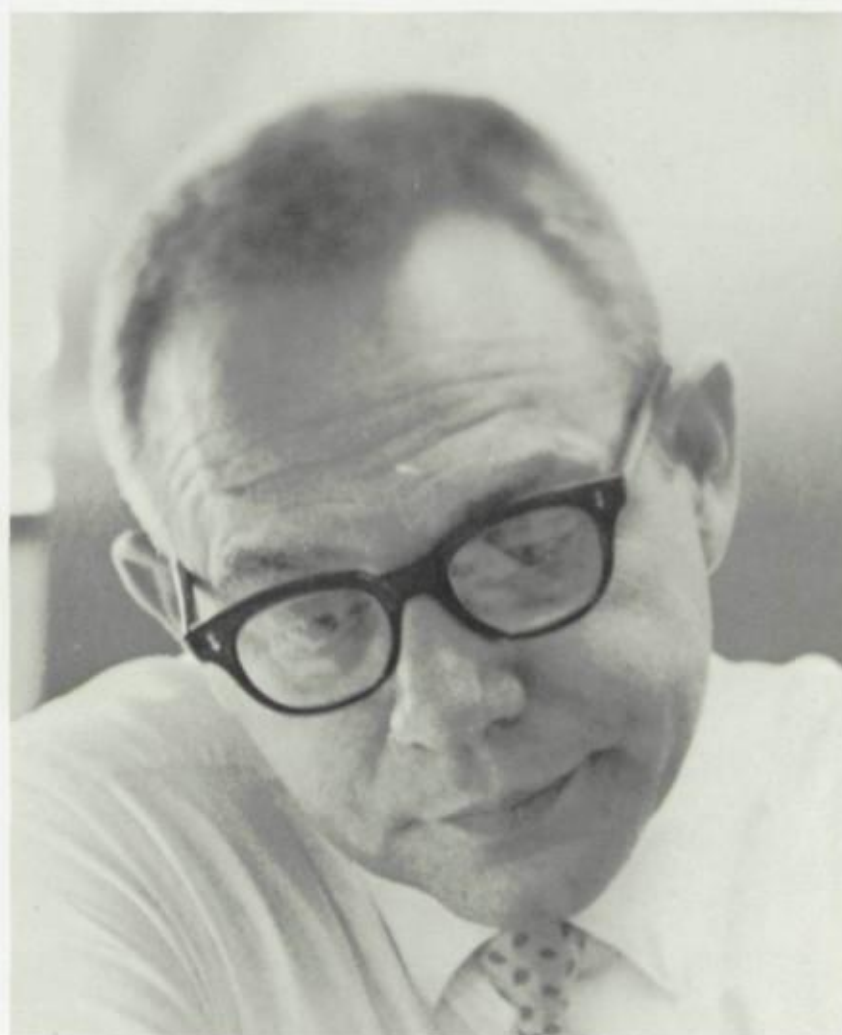

Atom Dusters Publish Science Paper

Howe offers a varied program of science courses for interested students. Freshmen may enroll in physical science, a course concerned with the basics of chemistry and physics. Sophomores are required to take biology. This two semester course is divided into zoology and botany. To pass each semester, it is essential that pupils make insect and leaf collections.

College bound juniors and seniors find chemistry a valuable choice. Chemistry, a laboratory science, discusses structural make up of matter, chemical identification, and classification of elements.

Students interested in receiving a major in science may select physics in their senior year. Specific laws and chemical properties are the fundamentals of this course. Howeites enrolled in physics may also place advanced biology and chemistry on their schedules to further their science major. Mr. William Smith heads this department.

Mr. Richard Hammond, physics teacher, ponders over some reading material during a quiet moment in his busy schedule.

Capable Teachers Join To Make

Mrs. Smuck explains an algebra problem to Freshman Chris Worrell. Understanding the fundamentals is essential.

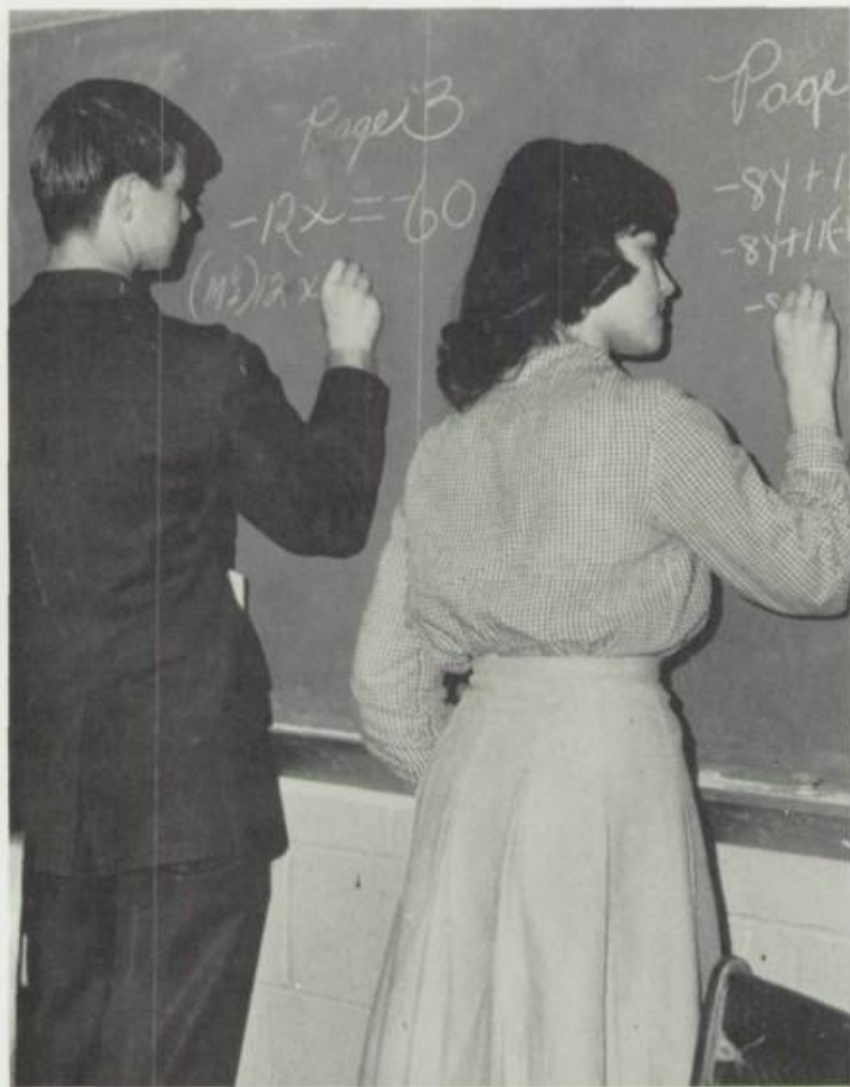

Mr. Justin Rehm constructs a quadrilateral to aid him in demonstrating a theorem to one of his geometry classes.

Marie Wilcox—Math department head, Robert Carr, Fred C. Lemley, Ruth Reed, Justin Rehm, Barton Richardson, Harrison Richardson, Glenn Rohde, Roger Schroder, Mary Smuck. Howe boasts the best math department in the city.

Math Challenging

If $2y$ plus $2x$ equals $2xy$, then what does x equal? First-year algebra students practice solving equations at the board.

Mathematics is a vital part of Howe's academic program. For the new freshmen on the academic diploma, Algebra I is the required math course, otherwise General Mathematics is usually taken. Other offered courses include Algebra II, III, and IV; Geometry I and II; Trigonometry; College Algebra, and Calculus.

Outside-school math activities are carried on by the Subset Club. This club is specifically designed for the freshmen interested in mathematics. In this club, participants are able to learn new concepts and connotations of basic mathematic ideas.

Mrs. Marie Wilcox heads the department. Mrs. Wilcox is director of the Tenth Summer Institute for Teachers of High School Mathematics. An author of five math text books, she is listed in the National and International Who's Who. In addition to these honors, Mrs. Wilcox has made speeches throughout the United States. Howe is proud of her achievements.

Math Department head, Mrs. Wilcox, teaches advanced courses. Trigonometry, calculus, and college algebra are offered to advanced math students.

SUBSET—FRONT ROW: C. Larson, M. Watkins, G. Coyle, K. Kraeszig, M. Keagy. SECOND ROW: M. Gluff, J. Quinones, T. Hudson, T. Holman. THIRD ROW: H. Gustin, K. Petri, D. Meyer, J. DeCoito, M. Abbott. FOURTH ROW: J. Aldrich, H. Potter, P. Bourne, D. Hartley, T. Amos, M. Clark.

History Classes Teach Eager Students

H. A. Kayler—Social Studies department head, Miriam Barnes, Philip Brown, Audrey DeVore, Don R. Evans, Laura Gaus.

Teachers must study as well as pupils. Mr. Stewart reviews a chapter in Government for the discussions in his classes.

HISTORY—FRONT ROW: L. Sugioka, D. J. Woodson, R. Robbins, K. Denny, J. Stockdale. SECOND ROW: M. Krinhop, D. Kirk, L. Smith, D. Meyer. THIRD ROW: J. Barton, T. Thompson,

J. Ford, J. Anderson, C. Rayford. The club is sponsored by Mrs. DeVore who will be leaving Howe after a year of teaching to travel with her husband in Europe.

About The Past And The Present Events

Dorotha E. Kirk, Mary L. McLane, Evan Mollenkopf, Emma T. Randall, James Stainbrook, David J. Stewart.

The social studies department offers adventures into the past, present and future. Through World History courses students learn about our ancient civilizations and cultures. In U.S. History, pupils learn about our country's origin. Psychology, Government Economics, and Indiana History are also offered. The social studies department has organized many informative clubs, such as the History Club and the Current Affairs Club. These clubs meet twice a month. They conduct lively discussions on several subjects. Many guest speakers are invited to talk at club meetings, also. The Social Studies department indeed provides students with vital knowledge.

CURRENT AFFAIRS—FRONT ROW: L. Kaufman, L. Jarrett, J. Quinones. SECOND ROW: C. Geelhead, S. Hine, M. Geelhead, D. Mather. Students keep informed through this club.

Mrs. Barnes directs a class in a discussion of the Far East. A student aids the group by writing on the blackboard.

Showalter, Gebhart, Walters, Riley, Arthur, Miller, Anderson. FOURTH ROW: Curtis, Beineke, Freeman, Keller, Ijames, Butcher, Price, Stephenson, Allender, Paul, Gibson, Hunt, Petrakis. The Concert Club is an advanced girls vocal group which performs on many occasions throughout the school year.

Music Groups Develop Skill And Talent

The Howe Music Department headed by Mr. Frank Watkins offers many varied opportunities in the fields of vocal and instrumental music.

Mr. William Handley, director of the Howe orchestra, works with the group daily to develop their skill. The orchestra performs at several school functions during the year and participates in the annual Band and Orchestra Concert held in the spring.

The Concert Club is under the direction of Mr. Watkins. This selective girls vocal group also meets one period each day to rehearse a variety of numbers. They perform in Music Department programs and in the All-City Girls Festival held in the spring.

After participating in either of these groups for a given number of semesters members receive awards according to seniority.

Frank S. Watkins—music department head, Robert A. Bramblett, and William Handley help to make the fields of music offered at Howe more enjoyable. They work to help students develop interest and skills in various fields of music.

Howe Band Strives To Liven School

BAND—FRONT ROW: Hatcher, Klein, Runciman, Smith, Hopkins, Shickles, McKim, Runciman, Lau, Funk, Petrakis, Hiding, Hall, Johnson, Carden, Lagenaur, Liddle. SECOND ROW: McNeill, Warner, Venne, Hill, Bell, Collins, Herdrich, Canada, Pickens, Warner, Cala, Potter, Martin, Romerill, DeCoito, Aldrich, Crawford, Sharp, Waite, Wright, Owen, Imhausen, M. Dawson, B. Dawson.

A spirited band is an asset to every school and Howe boasts one of the best in the city. Director Louis McEnderfer meets with both A and B bands each day.

The Howe Marching Band participates in a number of city festivities including the Veteran's Day, Christmas and "500" parades. They provide half-time entertainment at several home football games in addition to performing at other school functions. The band also takes part in the annual Band and Orchestra Concert in the spring.

The Pep Band is composed of a small number of band members. This group adds lively enthusiasm to home basketball games with their support.

After four semesters in the band members receive letters for their participation.

Instrumental students have access to several practice rooms where they may rehearse with their instruments individually.

Activities With Spirit And Rhythm

THIRD ROW: Legg, Chambers, Lawson, Sachs, Geelhoed, Kirk, Ford, Cord, Smith, Walters, Dunaway, Fischer, Pritchard, Wells, Russell, Whitmore, Wright, Morris, Wiesert, Elliott, Meyer, O'Brien, Robbins, Cook, Spice, Brown, Kern, Deer, Harrison, Scott, Stockdale, Robinson. FOURTH ROW: Hawkins, Hollowell, Noe, Flodder, Wall, Coonce, Parrish, Scott, Statzell, Hendrickson, Pribette, Stickle, Kleine, Stockdale.

Varied Business Courses Prepare

Students, such as Dorothy Rasener, learn skills in classes that will help them after high school.

F.B.L.A.—FRONT ROW: B. Neikirk, B. Love, SECOND ROW: M. Blake, K. Bradford, J. Milburn. THIRD ROW: M. Snyder, S. Mabee, L. Cochren, C. Welcher. Mrs. Aman assists the club as sponsor.

The business curriculum at Howe serves the students well. Courses designed for personal use help the individual in his daily business transactions. General business is an introductory course teaching efficient use of the many business services. The type-writing course teaches the touch typing system. Business arithmetic enables the student to calculate simple computations more readily. Business law explains how law governs daily business activities. Economic geography explains people and economic problems of other nations. Howe also offers shorthand, machine calculations, salesmanship, bookkeeping, and filing to develop skills needed for vocational work.

Miss Elsie Boose, a new business education teacher, spends her free time grading papers from typing and other classes.

Students For Their Future Careers

Shorthand student Candee Coulter, a junior, practices writing a lesson in some spare time to improve her speed.

Sherman Pittenger—Business Education department head, Patricia Aman, David Baugh, Elsie Boose, Dora Freed, Beverly Holland, George Jackson, Jacquelyn Melrose, William Rice, John H. Skene, Mar-yon Welch, counselor.

Teaching shorthand is the main duty of Mrs. Melrose; here she gives a timed writing.

Hervie Vertrees—Industrial Arts department head, Norman Cogan, Leslie Hash, Jack Lawson, Richard McLeish, Lyle Nave. Industrial Art teachers help students to learn many skills.

Dennis Graves and Ric Applegate learn the skills required to make a beautiful project in woodshop.

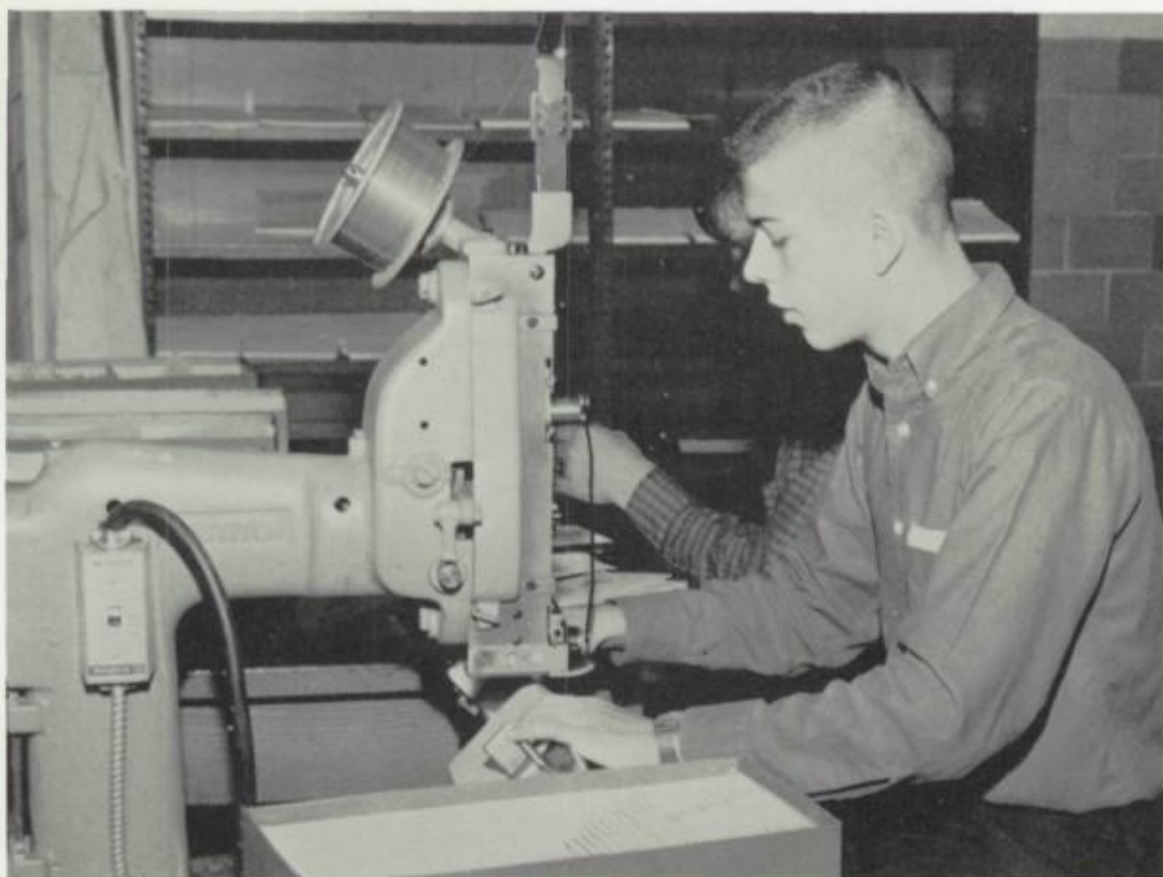

Woodshop, Printing And Drafting,

When the smell of oil and sawdust fills the air on the second floor, one can be sure the woodshop is hard at work. Within one of the piles of sawdust a student's project can be found. It may be one of many useful and desirable items for the home which the boys can choose to make. Bookcases, magazine racks, small tables, and bowls are just a few.

Building these articles teaches essential features of construction, as well as processes of correct sanding, polishing, and finishing. The classes also help the students get a sense of pride from jobs which are well done. With help from fine teachers like Mr. Norman Cogan and Mr. Hervie Vertrees many homes display the work of talented Howeites.

Metal Shop teacher, Mr. McLeish, helps Chuck Adkins inspect a piece of work done on the lathe.

Randy Benbow practices his skills in printing everyday in print shop.

Give Students Added Manual Dexterity

The Howe printing classes, under the direction of Mr. Lyle Nave, perform many services for the school. Not only do the students print up their own projects, they also print up the programs for the basketball games, the necessary office forms, the ever present "pink slips", and the programs for all presentations given in the Howe auditorium.

The Howe drafting and architectural drawing classes, with Mr. Leslie Hash and Mr. Jack Lawson as teachers, begin with the elementary techniques of mechanical drawing and advance to the designing of their "dream home" of the future.

A drafting student works on one of the plates he must complete. Drafting is a valuable subject for future engineers.

Home Economics Trains Students In The

Smallwood, FOURTH ROW: Mabee, Duncan, Bone, McClure, Moon. Miss Lois Coy, the Home Economics department head, also spends extra hours sponsoring the club.

Some home economics classes teach Howe girls the fine art of good cooking. The double period classes give the students a chance to try new recipes and sample the results. The girls work in groups of three or four to prepare the food. Sherene Personett combines the ingredients for a "Product", while Sharon Horn watches.

Skills Of Sewing And Cooking

LOIS COY—Home Economics department head, Karen Klimishin, Glenda Maris. Homemaking skills taught by these teachers are important in the home lives and careers of students.

Howe's Home Economics department gives girls the opportunity to learn the many aspects of house-keeping. The basic courses are Clothing and Foods; however, there are several sections, including a course in Home Management. This provides hints on interior decoration as well as many other things.

In foods classes pupils learn to cope with kitchen problems while preparing everyday and exotic dishes. The sewing classes teach girls the fundamentals of good dressmaking as well as providing them with a start towards a good basic wardrobe.

Miss Coy, the head of the Home Economics department, helps the students learn special sewing techniques.

Miss Maris makes her Home Economics classes very exciting and challenging to girls who are interested. The girls are enthused by the interesting projects she creates during the school year for each of the sections.

Art Courses Teach Valuable Skills

The creative and artistic talents of Howe students are displayed through the various art courses offered. Craft Arts, sculpturing, and jewelry classes are for students who like to work with their hands to create objects from raw materials. Other students choose to work with crayon, paints, or ink on paper or canvas. Commercial art students prepare for advertising careers and Howe is where they get their first experience. Fashion classes are elected by those interested in fashion designing.

The Art Department is headed by Mr. Howard. Mr. Klopfenstein and Mr. Roderick Shaw also teach art.

F. M. Howard—Art department head, M. David Klopfenstein, Roderick Shaw. These Art teachers encourage future artists.

Craft Arts students work hard on the many different and interesting projects they undertake throughout the semester.

Mr. Howard, head of the Art Department, explains to Kathy McGovern some of the special methods of drawing.

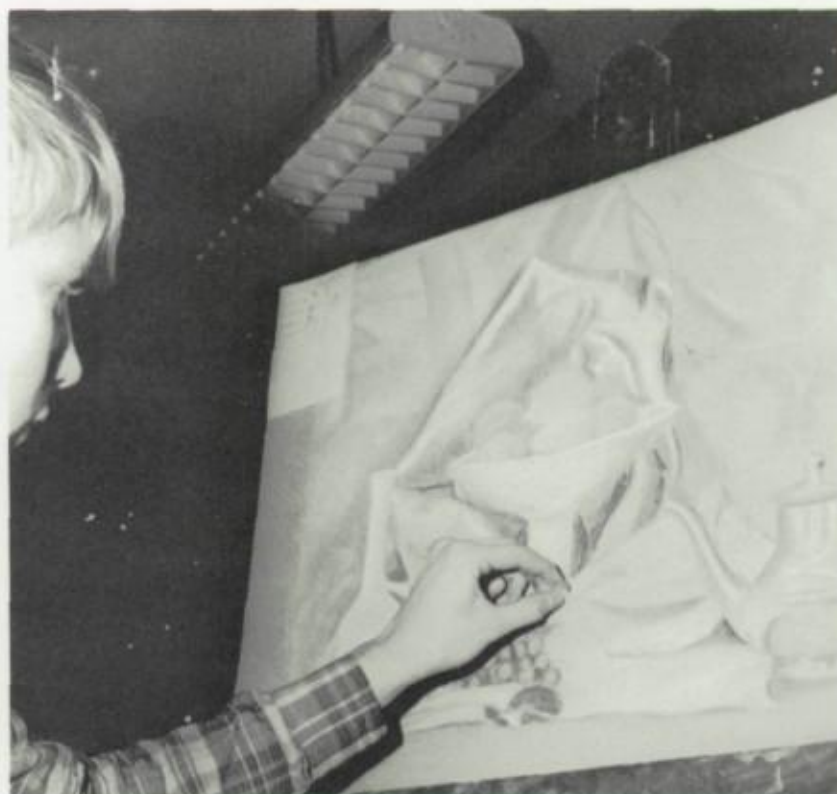

And Appreciation Of Finer Arts

Mr. Shaw, one of the teachers in the Art Department, prepares a future project he will use in class.

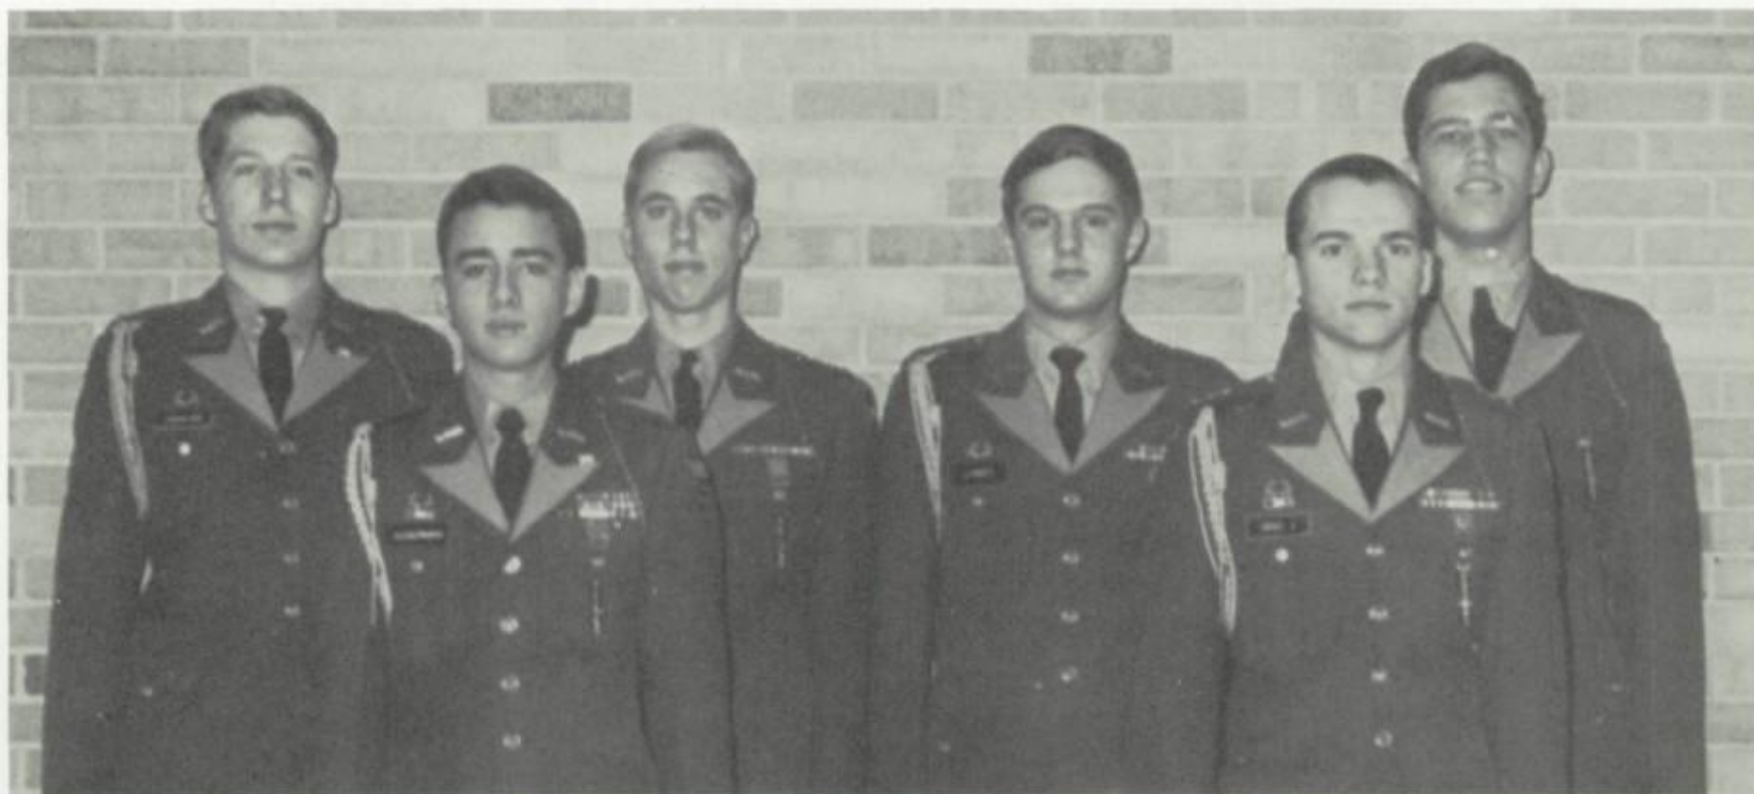

Sculpturing is an art in itself; however, it is just one phase of the commercial art course. Students spend many hours sponging their pieces of work to perfect every detail.

The art student utilizes his artistic ability in creating this still life picture. It is drawn with chalk on canvas.

ROTC Offers Practical Experience To Boys

ROTC STAFF—FRONT ROW: Major Bart Ackerman, and Captain John Gray. SECOND ROW: Major Fred Johnson, Captain

Larry Baumgardt, Major Lee Lyndes, and Captain Steve Raasch. Each of these officers has his own duty to perform.

The biggest event for the Howe military is the annual Federal Inspection for which the boys practice all year.

And Girls Interested In The Military

Under the supervision of Sergeant First-Class Bascom Perdue, boys enrolled in ROTC learn to prepare themselves for the military service. Strict enforcement of regulations enables cadets to acquire respect and cooperation for their commanding officers. Head of this year's ROTC is senior Bart Ackerman. Bart is in charge of all projects for the Military Ball.

Assisting the officers are six upperclassman girls. These ROTC sponsors inspect the cadets once a week on military knowledge. They participate in parades and in the annual Federal Inspection. In the spring, the sponsors are candidates for Military Ball Queen. The girls chosen must be honor roll students and are selected from many applicants. Sue Amick, Charlotte Bassett, Joyce Brandt, and Anita Wood are the seniors while Sherry Eggers and Dana Runciman are the junior sponsors.

Sergeant Bascom Purdue—R.O.T.C. department head. Boys learn basic tactics and are trained and drilled in military techniques.

Cpl. Tom Barr, Maj. Bart Ackerman, Sgt. John Payne, Capt. Steve Raasch. The team, commanded by Major Bart Ackerman, competed with other drill teams in Indiana for first place.

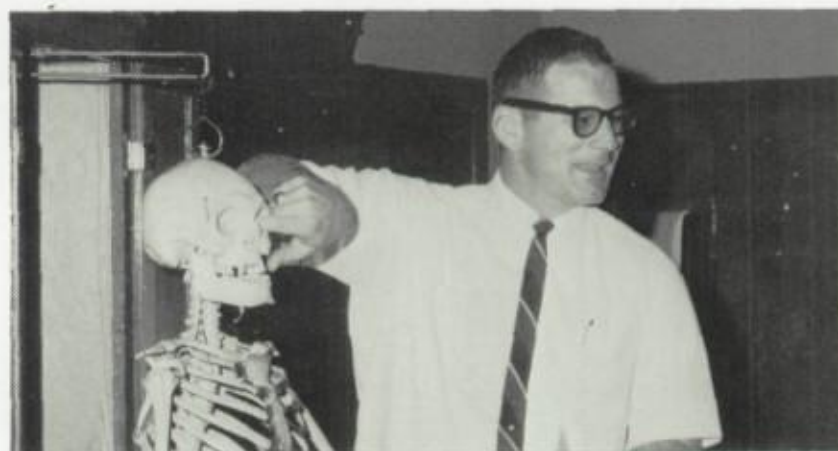

Students Gain A New Outlook On Health

The study of the human skeleton is an important part in the course of health. Mr. Krick points to certain parts of the cranium while the class discusses the bones of the head.

Each year health is offered to Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores. Those who take the course learn the fascinating functions of our body's systems and growth. Students also learn the important techniques of administering first aid. To make health more interesting, after school clubs are offered. For those interested in nursing as a career the Future Nurses Club is sponsored by Mrs. Whaley. This club invites speakers to discuss many topics concerning health and nursing. Meetings are held once a month. About twice a year the girls go on tours to Community Hospital or Indiana University's Medical Center. Often girls who belong to this club go on to become nurses. The Red Cross Club, sponsored by Miss Fitzpatrick, organizes various projects which help the poor and underprivileged. One of their achievements this year was a chest for overseas orphans.

Driving Opens New Doors For Teenagers

Denny Krick and L.B. Mathieson teach driver's education and health and assist in after school athletics. Robert J. Piercy teaches health and physical education and helps after school also. Margaret Whaley is the school nurse.

Health is a required course for graduation. It is a one credit subject in which one learns how to keep healthy both physically and mentally. Many diseases of the body and sicknesses of the mind are studied. Students learn the necessary foods for a balanced diet. In studying the different food groups, they keep a record of their meals for a week. From this they determine whether or not they have a balanced diet. First aid instruction is also included in this course.

The Howe driver education program consists of two phases, the book instruction from the classroom where students learn the "rules of the road", and actual driving practice in the car. The cars are equipped with an extra foot brake for the instructor's use in an emergency. Young drivers gain experience in all types of traffic situations: city driving, highway driving, and practice in rain or snow are valuable opportunities for pupils.

Driver education teaches many Howeites skills. An eye test, taken by each pupil, prepares him for his license test.

Driver education students Cap, Downey and Diann Bonham learn the many different parts of a car under the hood.

Physical Education Classes Help Improve

Modern dancing is an important part of physical education. Miss Brown demonstrates the steps while students watch.

Myra Bewley, a 1965 graduate, took many awards in gymnastics. Here she does her famous suicide on the parallel bars.

Becoming adept with all kinds of apparatus takes practice. Senior Sandy Vickers demonstrates her ability on the horse.

Rex Anderson teaches health and physical education, Janice Brown teaches health and physical Education for girls. Samuel J. Kelley teaches physical education and is Howe's Athletic Director. Barbara Wood teaches girl's physical education also.

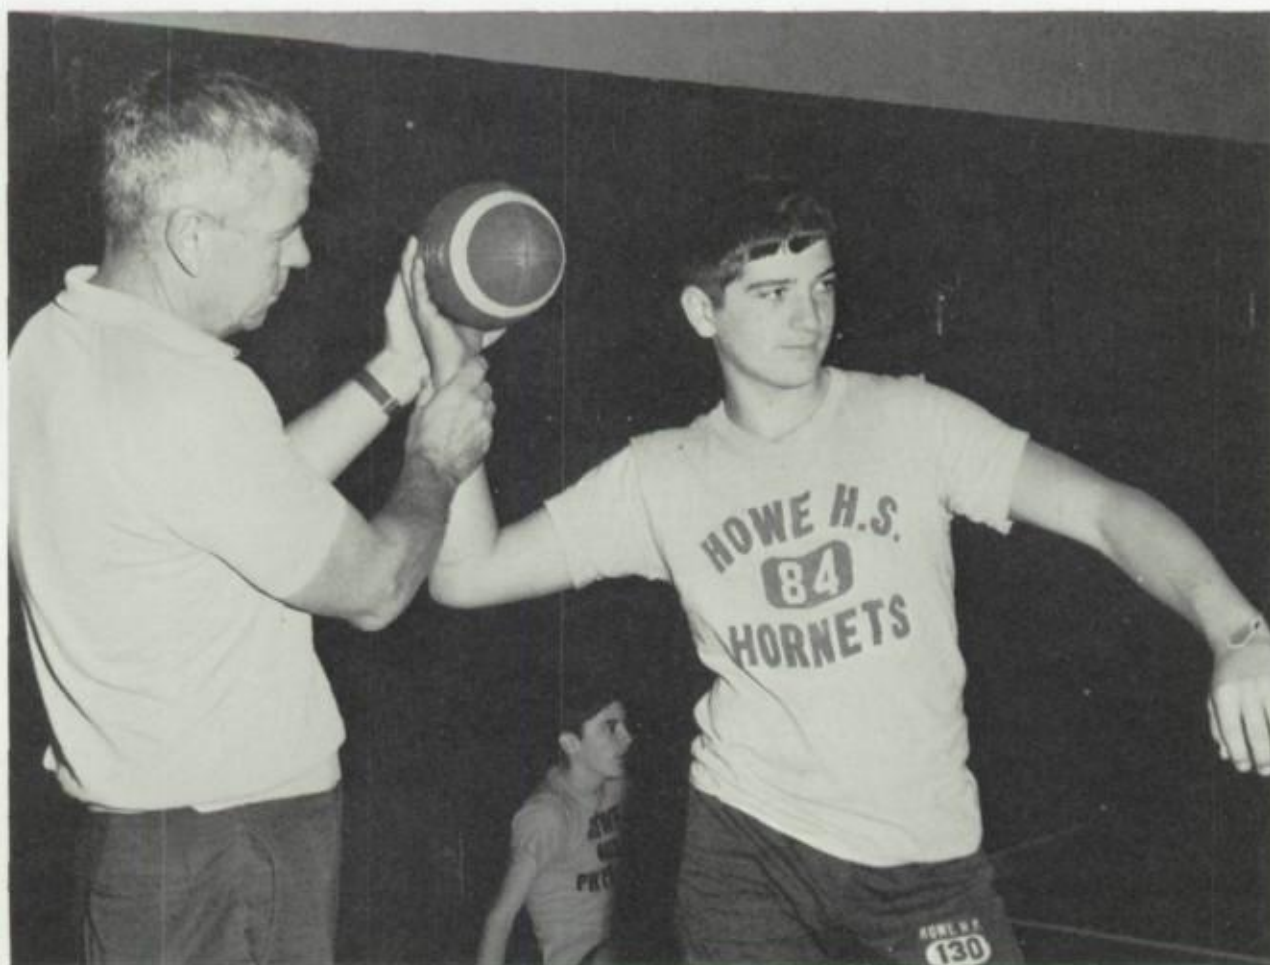

Skill and Agility

The girls' physical education classes, under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Wood and Miss Janice Brown, study and practice many athletic skills which will help them in the future. Not only are they able to take phys. ed. all four years, but they are also able to serve as gym assistants in the freshman classes. Among the skills taught are dancing, tumbling, girls' basketball and girls' volleyball.

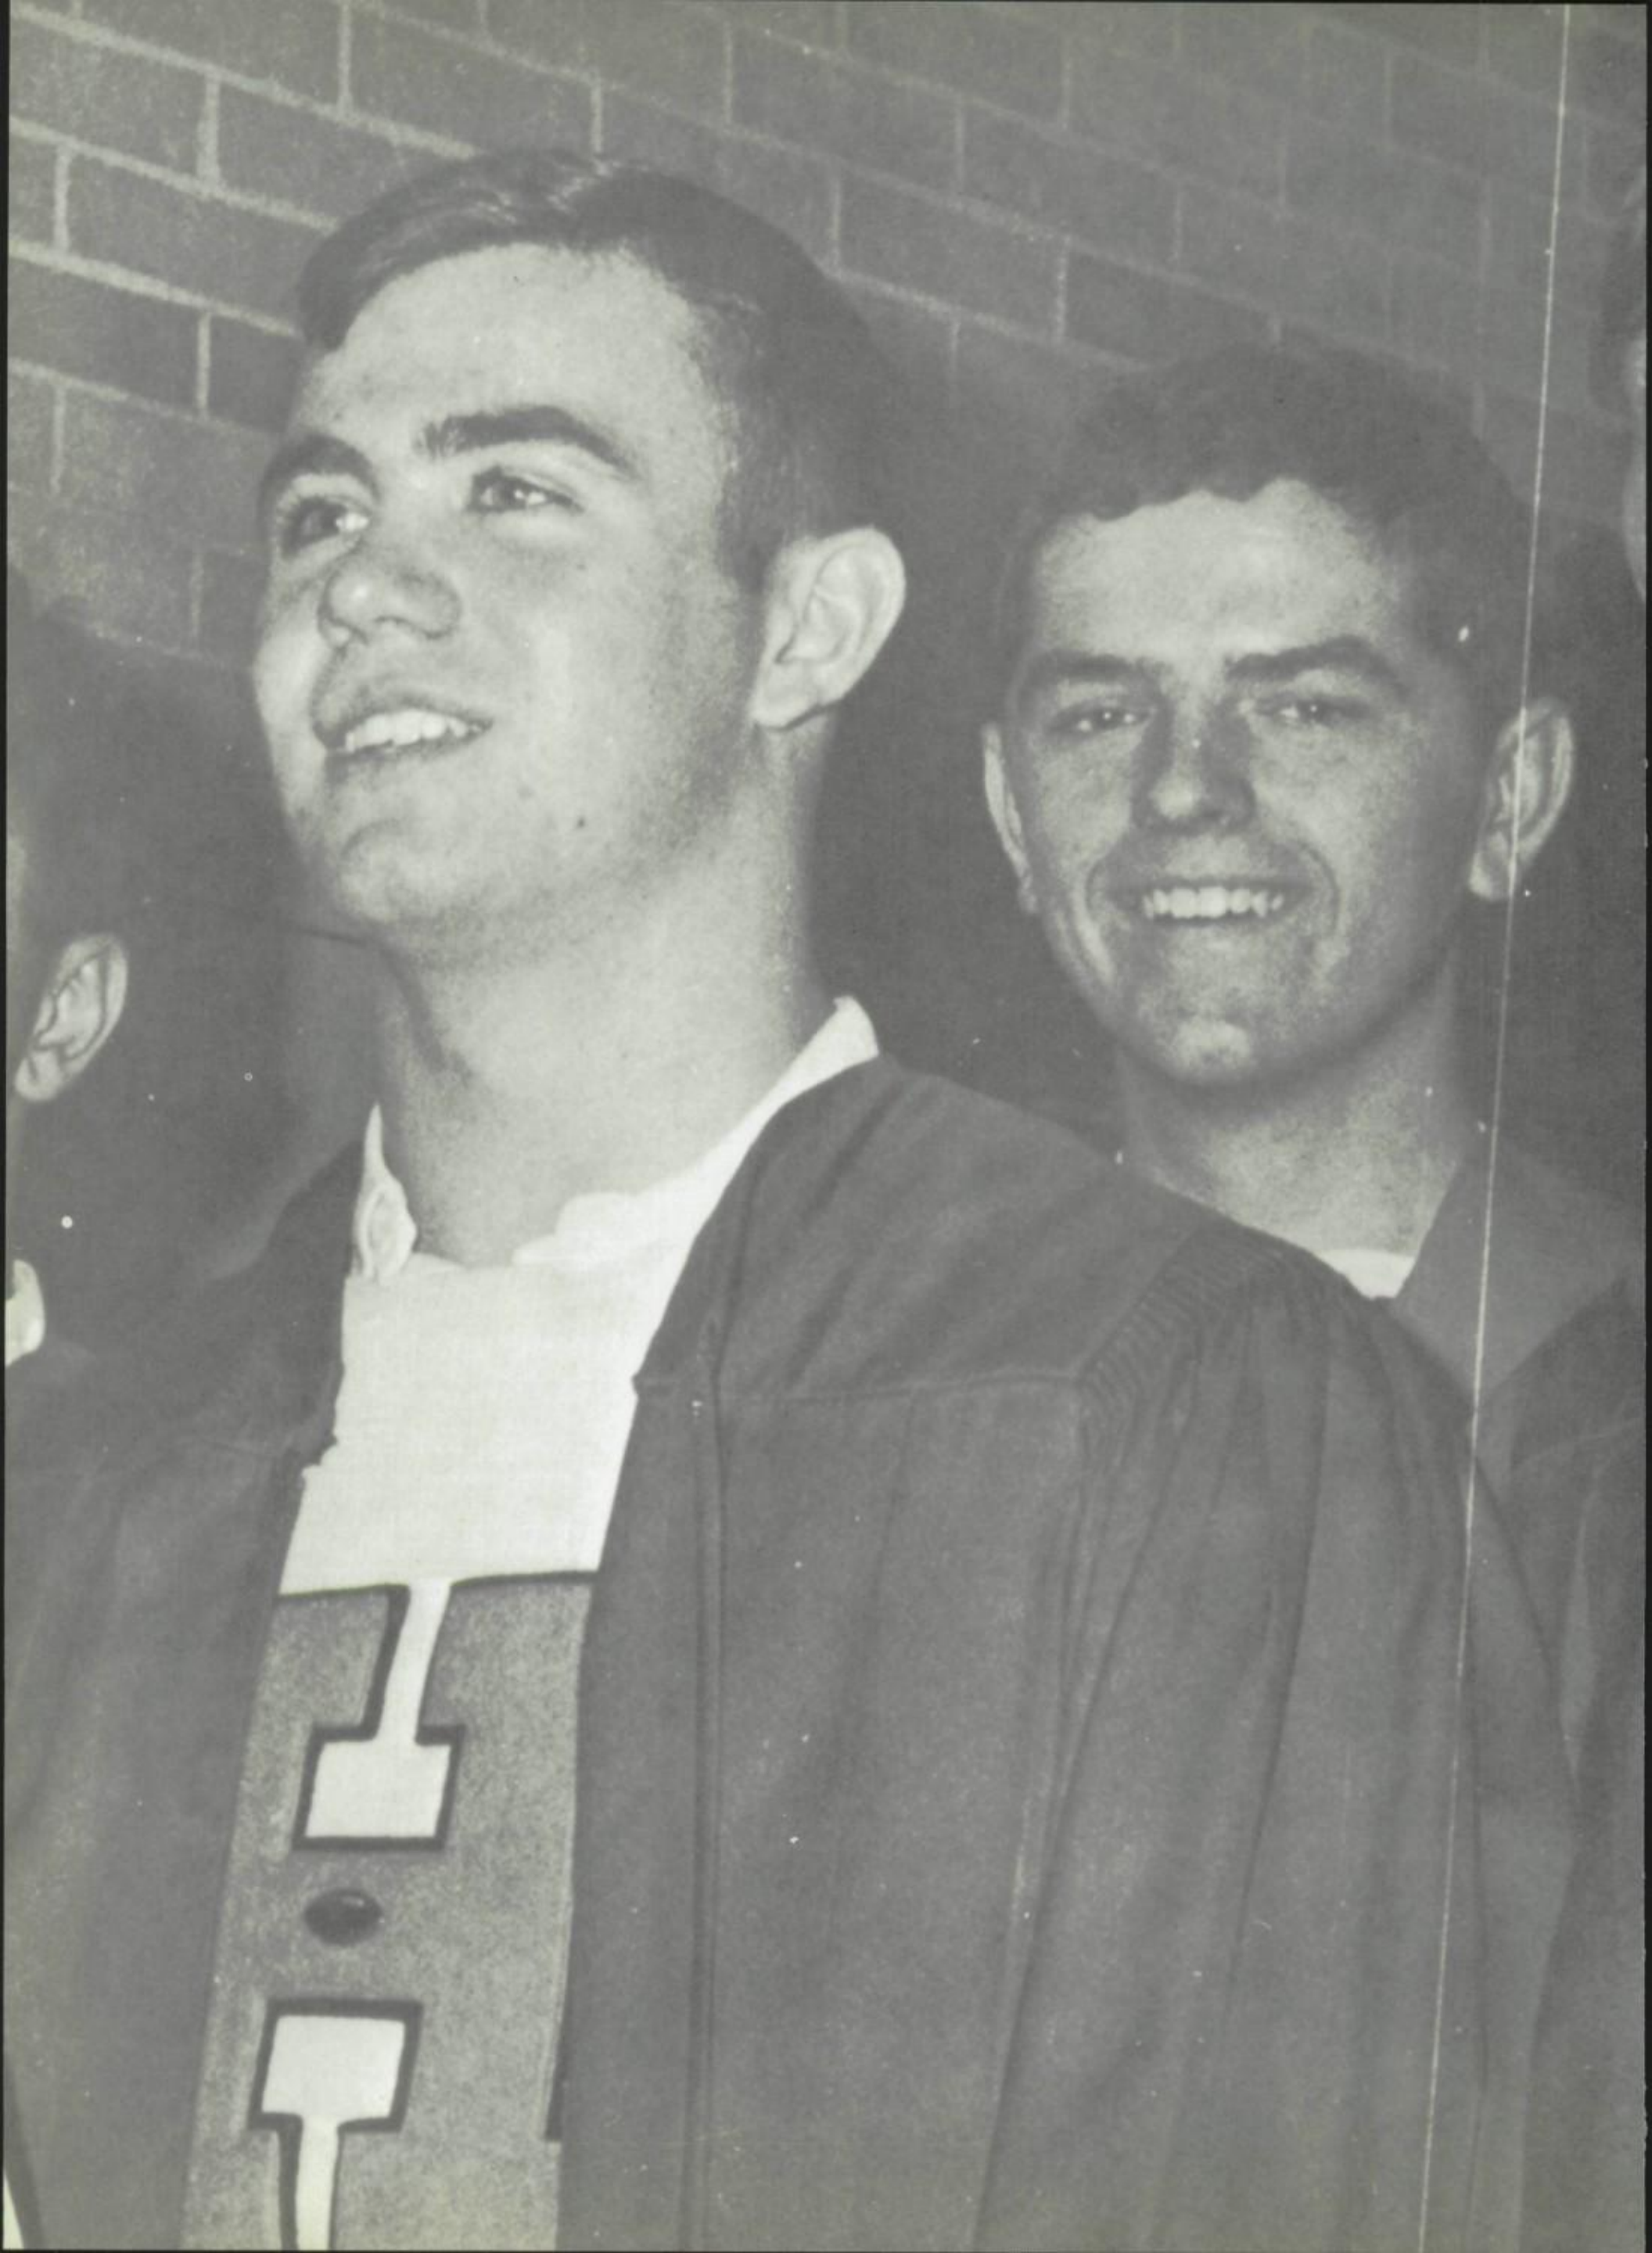

The boys' physical education classes, with Mr. Rex Anderson as department head and Mr. Robert Piercy and Mr. Samuel T. Kelley as teachers, develop their skills in many sports. Among these are football, basketball, tumbling, table tennis, softball, and the many track events. Though every student is not a natural athlete, many boys are encouraged to participate in the athletic program through their experience in freshman physical education. In the spring, the boys' physical education classes hold an inter-class track meet and this time the more skilled freshmen are rewarded for their accomplishments.

Robert Piercy, a new teacher at Howe, demonstrates the arts of tumbling as a group of freshmen students look on.

Mr. Anderson teaches the skills of many sports and games to the boys in his physical education classes. Here he shows one of his freshmen the correct way to throw a football.

ACTIVITIES

Extracurricular activities are an important part of a student's life at Howe. The activities at Howe are intended to stimulate a greater interest in learning and to broaden general knowledge. Through activities Howeites gain new friendships with other students and a closer relationship with the faculty. Various clubs give one a chance to get together with other young people who share his hobby and to develop his interest. Other activities give a student a chance to use his talents to benefit the school and add enjoyment to his four years at Howe High School.

Autumn Rhapsody Theme Of Brown And Gold

One of the most anticipated events of the school year at Howe is the annual Brown and Gold Dance. Held in the cafeteria, the Brown and Gold is sponsored by the HILLTOPPER staff as part of the year-book campaign.

Several days before the dance, candidates for Brown Boy and Golden Girl are announced during an all school assembly. Candidates this year included juniors Lynn Anderson, Dave Wiggins, Sue Cherry, and Dave Miller and seniors Linda Sugioka, Larry Bishop, Janice Findlay and Bruce Spear. Crowned at the dance were Linda Sugioka and Bruce Spear. Linda received gold chrysanthemums.

The Brown and Gold is an all-school activity that takes place in late fall. The cafeteria takes on a new atmosphere for the semi-formal occasion. This year's theme, Autumn Rhapsody, was expressed in decorations of multi-colored leaf patterns and mobiles. Music was provided by the Pastels Dance Band. The evening passed quickly into a pleasant memory.

Brown Boy Bruce Spear and Golden Girl Linda Sugioka, both seniors, were crowned under the stars at the Brown and Gold dance. Votes were cast by HILLTOPPER subscribers.

Howe students, unrecognizable in suits and formals, danced to the sound of music provided by the Jesters.

Decorating for the dance was done by the members of the 1966 HILLTOPPER staff. Sue Amick and Sherry Eggers find that covering the tables is important but time consuming work.

As a highlight to the busy year, the HILLTOPPER sponsored the Turnabout Twirl. This dance is unique in that the female partner of the couple must take on the usual male responsibilities such as buying the ticket, providing the transportation, and treating her date to dinner after the dance.

The Howe cafeteria was decorated in the theme of "Violet Twilight", a very appropriate setting for the late April dance. A "violet" atmosphere was ever-present due to the colored cellophane on the windows and violet strewn tables. Carnation boutonnieres were peddled at the door and refreshments were available.

Besides the regular dancing area in the cafeteria, the adjoining patio was used. The rhythmic music was accredited to a local dance band called The Jesters. They provided the entertainment for the enjoyable warm spring evening.

On warm spring nights the patio is a popular place for couples to meet to dance and talk with their friends.

Girls Treat Boys To Turnabout Twirl

Joyce Brandt and Bob Browning, members of the 1966 HILLTOPPER staff, sell carnations to each couple before they enter the dance. Flowers and stars helped to carry out the theme.

The Jesters supplied the music for the annual Turnabout Twirl which is sponsored by the HILLTOPPER staff. Violet Twilight was this years theme for the spring dance.

Senior Patty Estrate, escorted by Gary Lepper, was crowned 1965 Homecoming Queen. She received roses and a gold necklace to provide lasting memories.

Howe's successful 1965 football team was honored by a very successful 1965 Homecoming. The game, which honored the alumni, was a grand display of what the Hornets of Howe can do. The most exciting part of the evening, excluding the team's 6-0 victory over city foe Broad Ripple, was the crowning of the '65 Homecoming Queen. Patty Estrate was crowned royalty. Patty, a senior, was escorted by Gary Lepper. Mr. Stirling crowned her and Mr. Ron Campbell, Howe's Alumni President, presented her a bouquet of roses. The traditional golden necklace was presented to her by Max Utter. Other candidates and their escorts were, Sally Breedlove and Dale Barrett, Lana Alexander with Dave Miller, Melissa Scott and Dave Wilson, Carolyn Stevenson with Gary Brownlee, Debbie Stevenson with Bill Barker, Patty Beits with Kenny Grant, and Gay Weaver with Bryan Spear. The Homecoming was a spectacular show of enthusiasm marking another successful Howe year.

Gay Weaver, Carolyn Stevenson, Patty Beits, and Debbie Stevenson compose the freshman-sophomore Homecoming Queen candidates who vied for the title.

Queens Add Elegance To Traditions

Jamboree Queen Candidates smile as they recollect the thrill and excitement of the City Football Jamboree at Tech's stadium. Howe's Queen, Linda Perdue, was escorted by Mr. Mathieson, varsity grid coach when she was presented at the kick

Each spring the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes each nominate two girls to vie for the title of Football Jamboree Queen the following fall at the Jamboree. The Howe queen is introduced to the audience along with queens from all other participating schools.

The Princess of Light is elected each year from and by the senior class to reign for Howe and to enter city-wide competition. She shares a float in the Indianapolis Christmas Parade with girls representing all other high schools in the area. The city's Queen of Light is selected from this group.

Nominated from and by the senior class to be the 1965 Princess of Light were Sandra Johnson, Charlotte Bassett, and Sue Amick. Sue was elected as Howe's representative.

Senior Sue Amick, 1965 Howe Princess of Light, participates in the annual Indianapolis Christmas Parade by gracing the float designed for the Queen of Light and her court.

Queen Reigns Over Gala Homecoming

Nikkie Williams, Carole Cole, Pat King, Claudia Hipsher, Connie Paddon, Pam Cowden, Gay Weaver, and Cheryl Wallace were all candidates for Howe's 1966 Basketball Queen. The Queen was crowned at the Ben Davis game on January 29, Howe's Basketball Homecoming. The Queen was presented with a necklace.

Senior Nikki Williams was crowned Basketball Queen during half-time ceremonies at the Howe-Ben Davis game. She reigned over the Homecoming festivities.

One of the highlights of the basketball season each year is the crowning of the Homecoming Basketball Queen which took place this year during the halftime of the Howe-Ben Davis game. The queen candidates, wearing white letter sweaters with gold chrysanthemums, were presented to the school by their escorts while the girls drill team formed lanes on either side. The new queen was crowned by our principal Mr. Thomas Stirling and Frank Hancock, representing the student council, presented her with a gold basketball necklace.

Candidates for Winter Wonderland king include Brent Kern, Dave Miller, Larry Bishop, Brian Spear, Dave Marendt and Mike Spaulding. Other candidate's not included in this picture are Noel Bewley and Randy Reinhardt.

Senior Dave Marendt was crowned king of the Winter Wonderland dance. The dance is held after school in the cafeteria.

Annual Dances Brighten School Year

The Winter Wonderland Dance, sponsored by the Student Council and the Girl's Athletic Association, is held each year in December one afternoon after school. This year's dance was attended by many students.

Unlike other Howe dances, the Winter Wonderland Dance has no Queen. The Winter Wonderland King is chosen from eight candidates, two from each class. Dave Marendt of the class of '66 reigned at this year's dance. It started a merry Christmas season.

The R.O.T.C. Department is known for its military study and many honors in competitions. But each year in the spring, the Corps also proves itself to be outstanding in organizing one of the nicest formal dances of the school year. Last year's theme of "Stars and Stripes Forever" was carried out with decorations designed, made, and put up by the cadets and their sponsors. Sue Amick, a junior sponsor was crowned Queen of the 1965 Ball.

Members of the Howe ROTC and their dates enjoy an evening of music and dancing at the spring Military Ball.

Queen Reigns At Hoosier Relays

Awaiting the starting gun, participants in the Hoosier Relays face tough competition in all events. The Howe sponsored track meet is state-wide and is held in the Indiana University Fieldhouse, the Hoosier Relays is the largest high school indoor meet in the midwest.

Morris Whitmore strains every muscle in his body to achieve a winning jump.

As Queen of the Hoosier Relays, Paula Stanifer accompanied the Howe track team to the annual state meet.

Each spring Howe takes pleasure in hosting the annual Hoosier Relays track meet for teams from the state of Indiana and surrounding areas. Held at Indiana University in Bloomington, the meet is the largest high school indoor activity of its kind in the midwest. It initiates the track season for most teams.

The all day event includes approximately eighty-five participating teams. The competition ends with the evening finals and winners are awarded medals.

Howe's Spring Sports Queen also reigns as Queen of the Hoosier Relays. Nominated and elected by the student body, the Queen accompanies the Howe team to the meet and awards the medals to winners.

Candidates for Junior Prom King and Queen include Sharon Austin, Jack Martin, Diana Synder, Bill Barker, Joyce Brandt, Dale Barrett, Linda Mount and Bruce Spear.

Royalty Reigns At Junior Prom Activities

Chosen from eight candidates to reign over the 1965 Junior Prom were Queen Joyce Brandt and King Dale Barrett. The formal dance was held on May 15 in the cafeteria.

Springtime brought prom time for many Howe juniors. The event was sponsored by the student council, who prepared paper roses, made vases, and decorated the Howe cafeteria according to the theme of "Moonlight and Roses." A long stem red rose, along with a dance program, was given to each couple as a favor of the dance.

As a highlight to the evening, Dale Barrett and Joyce Brandt were crowned Junior Prom King and Queen. Other junior activities included an after-dance dinner and a picnic.

Junior Prom activities ended with picnics in various parts of the state. These juniors enjoy lunch at McCormicks' Creek.

The Student Council is an organization of students working to promote school spirit and to encourage support and participation in school activities. Because they sponsor a variety of activities through the year and work constantly to improve Howe, the Student Council is an important part of school life.

The annual clean-up campaign is held for one week to remind the student body to keep the cafeteria, halls and campus clean by using trash containers and waste baskets. This year it was decided to elect a Susan Spotless and Mr. Clean to highlight the campaign.

The Talent Assembly is also sponsored by the Student Council and is held in January. Tryouts are scheduled two weeks before the assembly and a panel of judges selects acts to perform in the show.

Members of the Student Council are elected by their homerooms to serve for one year. The Council elects its own officers and faculty advisors. It meets once every two weeks during the second period.

Senior Becky Graham participated in the Student Council Talent Assembly with a tumbling routine set to music. She performed in the Junior-Senior portion of the show.

Body, Supports Constructive Activities

For the first time, to highlight the Student Council Clean-up Campaign, a Suzy Spotless and Mr. Clean were elected. Charlotte Bassett and Dave Miller held the titles.

Sherry Eggers, Max Utter, Bruce Spear and Sandy Johnson, members of the Student Council Cabinet, meet to discuss the annual Clean-Up Campaign sponsored by the Student Council.

Each year in January new 9B girls are invited to join Selo-fra. At a party held soon after the change of semester, the 9A's have the opportunity to meet the greenies and discuss teachers, classes, hobbies, and other clubs at Howe.

In Selofra To Know More About Howe

The sponsor of Selofra, Susan Garver, helps freshman Bethal Reed in planning a Selofra program.

Starting to high school is an exciting new experience for freshmen. To help freshmen girls adjust to high school life, Selofra, a freshman club, was developed. Selofra stands for service, loyalty and friendship. Selofra enables the new student to make friends with girls her own age. Since all freshmen girls share the experience of starting high school, making friends with one another is easy.

Selofra is sponsored by Mrs. Susan Garver. The club meets every other Tuesday at 3:30. At the beginning of the fall semester the girls elect their officers. This year the officers are as follows: President, Marcia Reasoner; Vice-President, Roberta Skelton; Secretary, Diane Shockley; Treasurer, Pam Legg. Later in the fall the girls are appointed to committees which are in charge of entertainment, refreshments and other club activities. During the spring, Selofra usually presents a fashion show by the girls who model their favorite outfits. Programs such as panel discussions by the Hi-Y and talks by individuals from the club are also given. After the program a social period follows. Cokes are served and the girls have a chance to discuss their daily activities.

In January the girls sponsor a welcoming party for new 9B's. A Halloween party was given and the officers performed comical skits and routines which the girls enjoyed.

Selofra, indeed, lends a helping hand to freshman girls in adjusting to high school life. It also forms a firm foundation which a rewarding future can be built.

Selofra officers gather to plan activities for the coming meeting. Elected to head the freshmen girls organization were Roberta Skelton, vice-president, and Marcia Reasoner, president. Standing are Pam Legg, treasurer, and Diane Shockley, secretary. These girls were chosen at the beginning of the year.

Advanced Vocal Groups Display Talent

BOYS OCTET—Fred Haver, Lee Shultz, Gordon Goodwin, Dave Neighbors, Mark Bradley, Steve Edens, Mike Steed, Mark

Robinson, Steve Willeford. A selective all male group, the Octet performs for many school and community functions.

The girls Octet performs at many school and outside functions. This year the members are: Cyndi Middleton, Sandy Vickers, Peggy Owen, Kris Zumwalt, Judy Dye, Margaret Rieman, Jane Stuckey, Alex Stalas, accompanist; Charlotte Basset. Members of the girls octet must have outstanding voices and some ability to perform on stage.

The Madrigals, Girl's Octet, Boy's Octet, and Choir compose the special vocal section of the Howe Music Department. These groups perform at various school functions and community programs.

Mr. Robert Bramblett devotes his extra time to coach the Madrigals and Boy's Octet. The Girl's Octet and Choir practice under the direction of Mr. Frank Watkins as they busily prepare for their performances.

These groups practice one period each day to achieve perfection in their vocal arrangements. The members offer musical delight to one's ear because of the fine voices represented. Superb entertainment is the end result of a performance by any of these vocal groups.

Cyndi Middleton, Charlotte Bassett, and Peggy Owen rehearse with pianist Alex Stalas in preparation for a performance.

Members of the Madrigals this year include (SEATED) M. A. Tilford, J. McKee, C. Cottom, K. Zumwalt, E. Steen, A. Pinney, J. Holy, C. Carden, L. Chaney, L. Sugioka and (STANDING) D. Foley, D. Mosiman, M. Bradley, D. Neighbors, D. Wilson,

M. Robinson, A. Hatcher. The Madrigal singers perform true madrigal music in acapella style. Mr. Bramblett is in charge of the group. The Madrigals entertain for such functions as the P.T.A., singing festivals and several seasonal programs.

Music Department's Extravaganza, The

Ann Pinney as Tuptim and David Neighbors as Lun Tha, Tuptim's boyfriend, act out a scene from the Music Department's production, The King and I, presented March 25th and 26th.

Here, in the palace setting, Anna, played by Peggy Owen, talks to the king about one of her many problems in her job as teacher of his many children and his wives.

Because of the hard work by productions adviser Mr. Bruce Beck and Mr. Frank Watkins, director of the musical, excellence has become traditional of the annual musical.

King And I, Enjoys Great Success

The King of Siam, portrayed by Steve Willeford, shows his approval of the dignity displayed by his son, Prince Chulalongkorn. Mike Steed takes the role of the prince.

The King of Siam is a very powerful figure, commanding the utmost respect from his subjects, and Lady Thiang, played by Christine Zumwalt, knows her place as his head wife.

The story of "The King and I" opens in 1862 as attractive English widow Anna Leonowens with her son Louis arrives in Bangkok, Siam, to become governess of the king's children. Anna is awed by the splendor of the palace and the unpredictable king. In spite of the fact that he refuses to give her a house of her own, Anna warms to his great ideas and goodness. She becomes his unofficial diplomatic advisor and helps him through several perilous adventures. Her close friends are Lady Thiang, the king's head wife, and Tuptim, a young Burmese slave girl who has been given to the king as a present, but who is very much in love with Lun Tha, a Burmese emissary. Anna sympathizes with the lovers and becomes very irate when the king arrogantly thwarts the romance. As she is preparing to leave Siam with her son, she receives word that the king has suffered a heart attack. Deeply grieved Anna rushed to his side and realizes as he dies that she cannot go. She remains in Siam to guide the young Crown Prince Chulalongkorn in becoming the king his father was trying to be.

Pleasant Run Varieties Spotlight

One of the first questions asked by students at the beginning of the school year is "When is the P.R.V.?" The Pleasant Run Variety Show celebrated its third year of existence in 1965. This year's theme of "New York, New York" consisted of three parts. Mistress of Ceremonies, Melissa Scott, and Master of Ceremonies, Mark Gerzon, provided a tour of the "Big City" for the enrapt audience. First on the evening's schedule was a look at world famous Broadway. A chorus of tap dancers and the Girls' Octet took part in the opening number of "Lullabye of Broadway". Following the opening chorus were numbers from recent hits on Broadway and all over the world, such as "My Fair Lady," "Mary Poppins," and "Bye Bye Birdie."

Carnegie Hall was the next spot on tour. Here the audience was treated to musical selections on the piano, on the accordion and in song. There was also a ballet done to a poetry reading.

The last portion of the show, a trip to Greenwich Village provided a great change of pace. The night clubs held a lot of entertainment for the small admission price. Both versatility and talent were seen here.

Behind the scenes, the production staff of the stage crew, the scenery designers, the make-up crew, the publicity committee, the usherettes and ticket takers, worked to make the P.R.V. a success.

Cynthia Rieman puts in many hours of hard practice to make this years PRV a very successful production. Cynthia and her sister, Margaret, sang a duet entitled, "Do I hear a Waltz?"

"The Ultimates", Jerry Fielder, Rick Matillo, Mark Ellis, and Steve Eudaly added rhythm to the PRV with their instrumental number.

Dazzling Theme Of 'New York, New York'

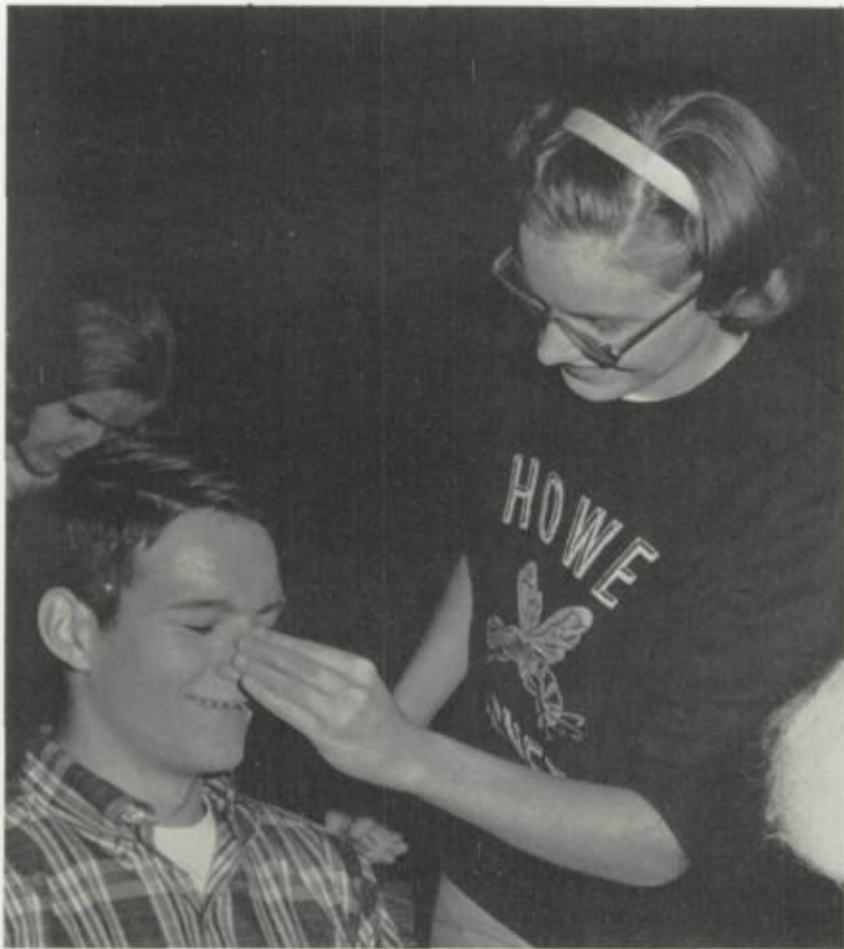

The Girls Octet made their appearance in the annual PRV singing a selection from the Broadway hit Mary Poppins.

"I Could Have Danced All-Night" was the background music for a ballet number done by Junior Pamela Perin.

A portion of the Pleasant Run Varieties was devoted to a salute to Broadway. One of the outstanding acts in this group was "The Telephone Hour" from The Broadway Musical Bye

Bye Birdie. This act illustrates the necessity of the telephone in the life of the modern-day teenager including the part it plays in acquiring a date or the latest news.

Prove Talent In Fine Productions

Many students at Howe have a deep desire to enter the bright light of an actor's life. Howe offers these Howeites a chance to achieve their dreams through the National Thespian Troupe. This is an honorary organization for students who have earned a total of one hundred hours in stage experience. Hours are gained by participating in plays here at Howe. Besides getting points for acting, many students take up directing, staging, and make-up application. Staging involves correct lighting and placing the appropriate scenery in the right place.

Besides performing for Howe students in plays such as this year's Off A Pewter Plater and The Christmas Prize, Thespians present one act plays just for their group. This year for the first time a play was given after school for an admission fee of one dime. This play was a Christmas special called The Christmas Prize. Thespians also have an opportunity to visit conventions held during the year.

Hilltopper Staff Edit 25th Book

Mr. Donald Austin, HILLTOPPER advisor, explains to Joyce Brandt, co-editor, which pages and multiples must be sent in for the next deadline. It is important to meet this.

Members of the HILLTOPPER staff strive diligently to produce an "All American" yearbook which will surpass the quality of previous books. Writing copy and captions, cropping pictures, snapping cameras, and creating page spread lay-outs, staffers seem to be in an endless rush to meet deadlines.

Amidst the frenzied schedule, time was taken to present a sales campaign in September, the Brown and Gold in the fall, and the Turnabout Twirl in the spring. The theme of the Brown and Gold Dance was "Autumn Rhapsody". Bruce Spear and Linda Sugioka reigned as Brown Boy and Golden Girl. The theme of the Turnabout Twirl was "Violet Twilight".

Tryouts for the yearbook staff are held in the spring. All applicants must draw up a few page spreads for the tryout. Then these are judged and the new staff is chosen by the HILLTOPPER advisor, Mr. Austin, and the two co-editors.

Journalists Find Success In Variety

A. Payne, R. Butcher, P. Moore, C. Beineke, K. Byrne, B. Cary, L. Boyd, B. Georgia, N. Hall. FOURTH ROW: J. Tandy, D. Hale, M. Bradley, S. Mitch, G. Benz, C. Lagenaur, A. Wood, M. Gibson, J. McKee. The staff is sponsored by Mrs. Pat Alexander, a biology teacher at Howe.

Conducting interviews, writing copy and meeting deadlines are all familiar activities to Tower staff members. The Howe Tower, Howe's bi-weekly newspaper is published by students under the supervision of Mrs. Pat Alexander, the staff sponsor.

Reporters receive their assignments regularly from page editors and are responsible for a story covering the assigned topic. The finished copy is proofread and sent to the printer. When the copy is returned pages are "pasted up," proofread again and finally sent to the printer to become another four-page edition of the Howe Tower. Overseeing this entire operation is senior Editor-in-Chief Allan Wood. Working closely with him is Managing Editor Susan Tandy. Many long hours of work are required to put out an outstanding paper as the Tower.

Mrs. Alexander, the tower sponsor, looks over the latest edition of the school newspaper. With her are tower staff members Greg Pritz, Mary Krinhop, Jane McKee, and Becky Funk.

Of Publications

Aspiring journalists have the opportunity to express themselves in several ways through both Howe and city publications. Pen Points, Howe's literary magazine, is published under the direction of English teacher, Mr. Hal Tobin. The student editor is Peggy Owen. Members of the staff work toward a fall and spring edition of the magazine. Material is selected by the staff from contributions by English students. Poetry, prose, essays, and other styles of writing are chosen for Pen Points.

The News Bureau is a branch of the Tower staff which corresponds with the city's publications. There are seven members: Alyce Payne, who writes for the Indianapolis News edition of the Youth News; Nita Briggs, correspondent to the Teen Star; Cathy Welcher, writer for the Eastside Herald; and Paula Throckmorton who wrote for the Indianapolis Times. Steve Mitch informs the Star of Howe's sports activities; Greg Pritz reports the sports to the Star and News; and Valerie Cooper is Marion County Courier correspondent.

Honorary Organizations Bring Attention

At Howe outstanding journalists are given much recognition. Quill and Scroll is an honorary organization for journalists. To be eligible one must be a junior and have worked with a publication such as Pen Points, Tower, or Hilltopper for two years. There are fourteen people in the Howe chapter at the present time. New members are initiated each spring.

Summer institutes offer students who work for school publications to learn better techniques. These sessions are held at various colleges and universities in several states. Last summer four members of the Hilltopper staff attended Michigan State University's institute, and one of the Tower editors, Susan Tandy, worked with school newspaper editors from all over the state at Indiana University.

Hilltopper staff members Carole Cole, Joyce Brandt, Martha Keller, and Judy Fenters spent a week last summer at Michigan State University, Lansing, Michigan.

QUILL AND SCROLL—FRONT ROW: A. McWilliams, S. Amick, M. Krinhop, J. Fenters, SECOND ROW: S. Tandy, N. Briggs, A. Wood, C. Cole, J. Brandt. This is a national journalism high school honorary that is sponsored by Mrs. Pat Alexander of the Tower and Mr. Donald Austin of the HILLTOPPER. New members are initiated into the society during the spring meeting. They must be in the upper one third of their class and active in a school publication.

To Many Outstanding Students At Howe

Caldwell, Larry Baumgardt. FOURTH ROW: Andy Hatcher, Greg Pritz, Steve Willeford, Mark Gerzon, Trent Detamore, Bill Freeman, Ken Burris, Gary Benz. These students are seniors and have been in the National Honor Society for two years. Junior members and new senior members are inducted into the society in February, after being tapped during the Honors Day Assembly in the Howe Auditorium.

Probably the greatest honor that is given at Howe is membership in the school's chapter of National Honor Society. Only students in the upper ten per cent of the junior class and upper fifteen per cent of the senior class are eligible for candidacy. Initiates must carry a six point grade average. The society holds as its ideals scholarship, leadership, citizenship, and service. Miss Maryon Welch is the sponsor for NHS. Officers are Allen Wood, president, Charlotte Bassett, vice-president, and Becky Funk who is the society's secretary. The officers are elected in the Fall; and take charge of organizing the activities. The NHS pin, worn by many members, pictures a torch, the symbol of knowledge. To recognize knowledge is the purpose of the National Honor Society.

National Honor Society officers, Secretary Becky Funk, President Allan Wood and Vice President Charlotte Bassett are all Seniors who have been members of the scholastic group for two years. When the Juniors are inducted into the Society, the officers present pins and membership cards to them.

Nationalists Claim Victory Second

Elected to state offices in the '65 mock election were Nationalists: Governor Dale Barrett, Dan Meek, Larry Bishop, Bill Welch and Charlotte Bassett.

Nationalist candidate for Governor of Howe, Dale Barrett, steps into the voting machine to cast his ballot.

The state of Howe elected a full Nationalist administration in this year's mock election. Both Nationalists and Federalists nominated their parties' candidates at conventions. Vieing for the office of governor were Dale Barrett and Mark Gerzon. Dale won along with running mates Lt. Governor Dan Meek, Secretary of State Larry Bishop, Treasurer Bill Welch and Auditor Charlotte Bassett. The Nationalists also won all remaining state offices. The Federalist Party's slate of Mark Gerzon, Gary Benz, Trent Detamore, Steve Willeford and Sandy Johnson conducted a good campaign. The campaigns and platforms of both parties displayed many aspects of our government. The election gave each participating student a better understanding of the government under which he lives. Conventions, posters, campaign speeches and rallies were all part of the elections which the students saw come alive within Howe. Miss Kirk sponsored the Nats and Mr. Stainbrook sponsored the Feds.

Posters in support of each party cover both walls and students during the week of campaigning. Elaine May supports the Nationalists with her time and effort.

Straight Year In Mock Election

The officers elected in the mock election each year win the privilege of administrating over Howe in spring, summer, autumn and winter. Here the prize of the election is shown as the real prize that it is . . . Howe High.

Nationalist or Federalist? The dilemma faced by this student will be conquered after careful consideration of each party's slate.

Federalist nominees for state offices smile in defeat after a good campaign. The slate included Sandy Johnson, Steve Willeford, Trent Detamore, Gary Benz, and Mark Gerzon.

Numerous And Varied Organizations Create

Howe's business managers perform several important services for the school. They are responsible for the sale of season tickets as well as tickets for other functions. Mr. Trinkle advises them.

The boys in the Audio-Visual Club are responsible for the school's projectors and films. They distribute these and make minor repairs. Mr. Hammond is the sponsor.

Chess Club meets once a week for group practices and matches. They perfect their techniques in preparation for meets with groups from other schools. Most members also practice outside school.

BUSINESS MANAGERS—SEATED: Dale Barrett. STANDING: Sue Amick, Judy Fenters, Sylvia Estrate, Sherry Eggers, Charlotte Bassett. Selling tickets is their main duty.

AUDIO-VISUAL—L. Richter, R. Murphy, A. Wood, M. Russell, S. Wieneke, C. McCarty. Mr. Hammond is the sponsor.

Extracurriculars Help Students

BOOK DISCUSSION—FRONT ROW: S. Tandy, T. Thompson, G. VanCleave, D. Mather, A. Wuster, D. Cardwell, A. Hatcher, Mrs. Sharon Jones; sponsor, Z. E. Seel.

The Future Teachers of America provides students with an opportunity to take a realistic look at teaching. They explore their own interests and observe many teaching situations. This organization gives the students an idea of colleges and universities which will influence their career in teaching. It also helps a pupil to decide what field of education he is best suited for. The Future Teachers of America club covers elementary, high school, and college levels of interest in teaching. This club is indeed a worthwhile organization.

The Book Discussion Club meets twice a month to debate great literary works. The sponsors, Mrs. Laura Gaus and Mrs. Sharon Jones, select the books from a Great Books List. Some of the works which have been discussed so far this year are the Declaration of Independence, the book of Genesis from the Bible, and Politics by Plato. Since ideas and interpretations often are widely varied, the discussions can become heated debates.

Clubs such as this one greatly benefit the members by helping them to understand great books.

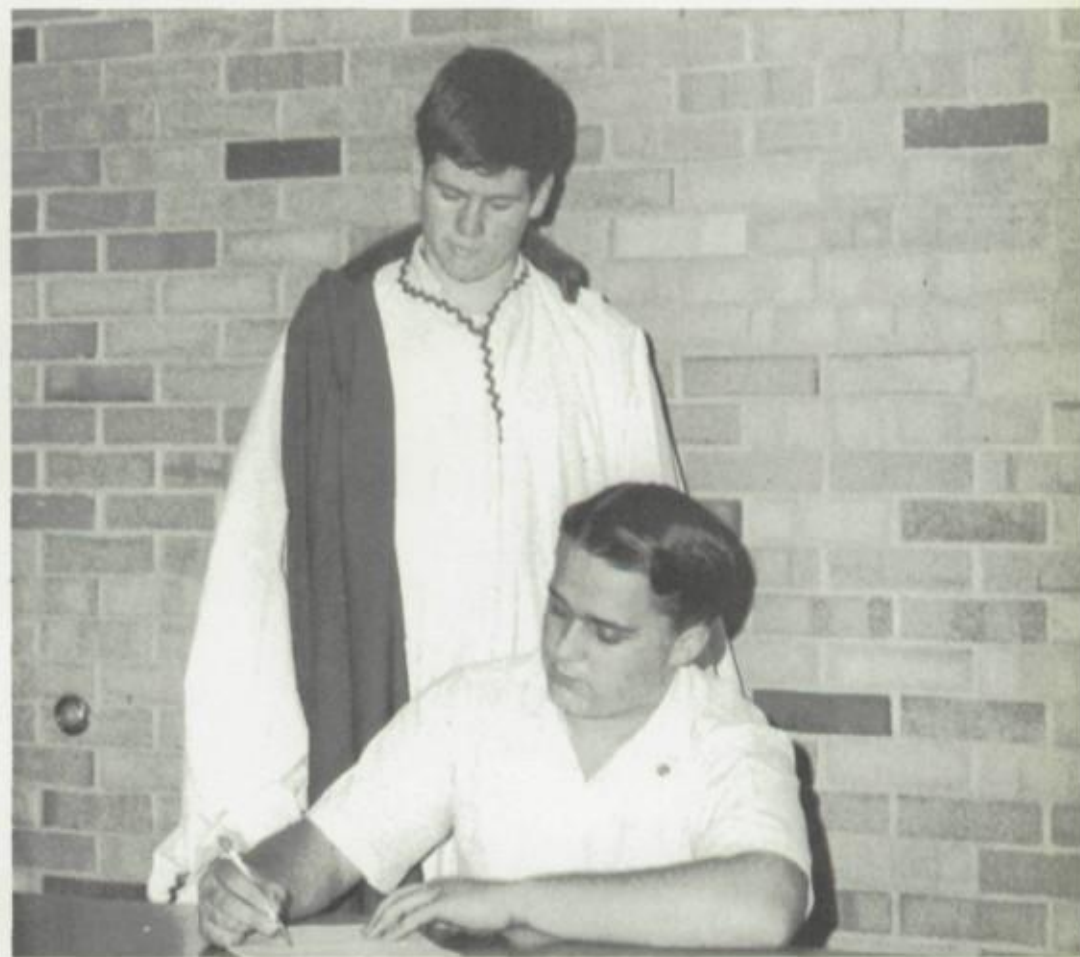

Gretchen VanCleave, an avid member of the Book Discussion Club, takes time to read one of the assigned selections.

Gain A Wider Interest In School Subjects

The Latin Club meets Wednesday after school. The sponsor, Mrs. Vesta Cohee, teaches about Roman culture.

Two consuls of equal rank head the Latin Club. They are Bob Browning, in the toga, and Steve Beeler.

The Latin Club, sponsored by Mrs. Cohee, is an active organization at Howe. It has an enrollment of thirty-five students. The officers who were installed at the first meeting are Robert Browning and Steve Beeler, consuls; Susan Tjomsland, scriptor; and Michael Pfeiffer, quaestor. Among their activities is a slave sale of new members. The purchasers pay with denarii, a small coin. The members sing hymns in Latin. In December they celebrate Saturnalia.

Lettermen, GAA Raise Athletic Standards

LETTERMEN—FIRST ROW, D. Silvers, L. Morelock, P. Morrison, T. Parcel, F. Ward, H. VanMaaren, M. Bradley, SECOND ROW, T. Roda, S. West, G. Bradshaw, N. Bewley, D. Mosiman, J. Miller, M. Leslie, D. Meek, THIRD ROW, B. Spear, S. Willeford, T. Detamore, D. Brown, S. Raasch, J. Geise. The club's members are proud of their gold letters.

Lettermen and GAA are two activities which function regularly at Howe. Lettermen have numerous jobs to perform during the various sports seasons. During football season, they help park cars and guard exits. Holding ropes, parking cars, and taking tickets are their jobs for home basketball games. Girls' Athletic Association meets every week to play volleyball, and kickball, to learn the skills of archery, and to participate in other athletic activities. Each year they sponsor a track meet and a gym meet. GAA also co-sponsors the Winter Wonderland Dance in December.

Performing a hand stand on the parallel bars, Susie Thomas participates in the girls gym meet which is held in the spring.

A junior Doug King, one of Howe's Lettermen relaxes the ropes while the Star-Spangled Banner is played. Holding ropes is their main duty during basketball.

Precision Is Aim Of Girls Drill Team

The Girls Drill Team, a unit composed of forty-three members is an attractive addition to Howe activities. The team practices every Tuesday afternoon to perfect marching steps and pom-pom routines. Lynn Anderson, a junior and captain, works along with the sponsor, Mrs. Mercer to coordinate the group.

The Girls Drill Team performs at many football and basketball games. One of its major activities during the year is Federal Inspection held in May. The girls participate as a squad along with all companies of the ROTC. The team also takes part in the Veterans Day and 500 Parades.

Cheerleaders Spark Crowd's Enthusiasm

Each year Howe's varsity cheerleaders lead the fans in peppy cheers and chants to back the teams.

Cheerleaders play an important role in generating enthusiasm at Howe athletic events. Beside leading yells at games the girls are responsible for many of the posters and announcements promoting school spirit and team support.

Backing the cheerleaders at varsity games is the Howe Cheerblock. This group performs at all varsity home games and works with the cheerleaders in preparing routines and yells.

An addition to the varsity cheerleading squad is the Howe Hornet. Executing her tumbling act with the cheerleaders in brown and gold costume, the Hornet is yet another team booster.

Behind all the groups and their efforts is the faculty sponsor, Mrs. Barbara Wood. Mrs. Wood works faithfully with the girls to develop new yells and to encourage participation by all Howe fans.

Marilyn Duhammel, the Hornet, is a valuable asset to the cheerleaders.

ATHLETICS

A brisk September evening on the beautiful Howe campus was the scene for the first home football game in the new Hornet stadium. That evening was only one of many joyous events in the year's athletic calendar. With the best football season in years, an outstanding basketball team, a state-ranked cross-country team, excellent wrestling, baseball, track, golf, and tennis teams we have an all-around good year. The coaches kept the players working and the managers kept the teams well-equipped as well as in good health to give the Howe fans the best season the Hornets have seen in a long time.

After a slow start, the Howe freshman football team ended their season with an excellent 6—3—1 record. It doesn't quite compare with last year's undefeated Co-City champs but it helped produce an all-around successful fall season in Howe athletics. Coach Robert Piercy, newly transferred from Scecina, was very pleased with the inexperienced frosh.

Senior Bruce Spear aided the team at many critical points this year with his punting and extra point kicking.

Season In Years

Coach Lester Mathieson found his walkie-talkie very useful in spotting this year to find the teams weak spots.

Senior Steve West (42) was injured last year, but came back strong as a starting halfback this year.

Coach David Stewart, a member of the Howe Social Studies Department, in his second year as reserve football coach, showed the JV's their best season in years. A 3—7 record may not sound too impressive, but with the constant shifting of players from reserve to varsity it turned out better than expected. The team kept up the Howe tradition of sportsmanship in their defeats as well as their victories.

Not only did the 1965 Howe football team play the first games in the Hornet stadium, but they also put the icing on the cake by celebrating the best season since 1959. The season was opened with a loss to arch rival Tech but the outlook changed the next week with a victory over Madison Heights to break that team's 15 game winning streak. The following week another disheartening defeat was handed to Howe by Manual. From there on the team looked like a different eleven. The following week was the first game in the new stadium. Howe came out ahead by defeating Noblesville 19—12. The next two games were wins over Broad Ripple and Arlington. Then came the only other loss of the season at the hands of Northwest followed by victories over Warren Central, Washington, and Scecina. The coach said at the end of the season that he was very pleased with the performance of the team and that he wanted to thank all the people who helped promote our stadium and he especially wanted to thank Mr. Michael Dugan, the man who "built" our stadium. Surely the student body should also express their appreciation.

Harriers To Sixth In The State

Howe's cross-country team, coached by Mr. Walker, proved to be one of the best teams in Howe's history. Coach Walker, who came from Goshen, worked the boys long and hard starting in late June. Senior boys Paul Youngkin, voted most valuable runner, Mike Leslie, co-captain, Jim Miller and Doug King headed the team. Juniors Don Brown, co-captain, Henry VanMarren and Paul Morrison followed the Seniors' example by proving to be of immeasurable value to the team. During the regular season the Hornets compiled an 8-1 record for dual meets. They placed second in their own Howe Invitational and third in the City meet. Throughout the season, each individual boy had shown his outstanding abilities. The team as a whole, however, failed to develop into a great power. As the regular season drew to a close, the boys proved they were one of the best teams in the state. The Harriers placed second to a strong Washington team in the Sectionals. They then traveled to the Newcastle Regional where they qualified for the State. They avenged their only regular season loss by edging Washington for third place. Competing among the twelve best state teams, they placed sixth. The reserve team, also under the leadership of Coach Walker, had a 3-3 season record. The freshman team compiled a 1-3 season record. Mr. Krick assisted Mr. Walker in handling the freshmen. This record proved the new coach brought with him great promise to Howe's cross-country future.

The members of the FRESHMAN AND RESERVE CROSS-COUNTRY teams are—FIRST ROW, S. Roller, M. Smoot, D. Belter, B. Shaw, L. Wolff, E. Koschka, R. Pigman, J. Ford, J.

Mazenis, SECOND ROW, D. Taylor, G. Coyle, J. Koss, C. Pet-tee, H. Sheets, P. Askins, D. Smith, R. Clark, Coach William Walker. They had a record of 1-3.

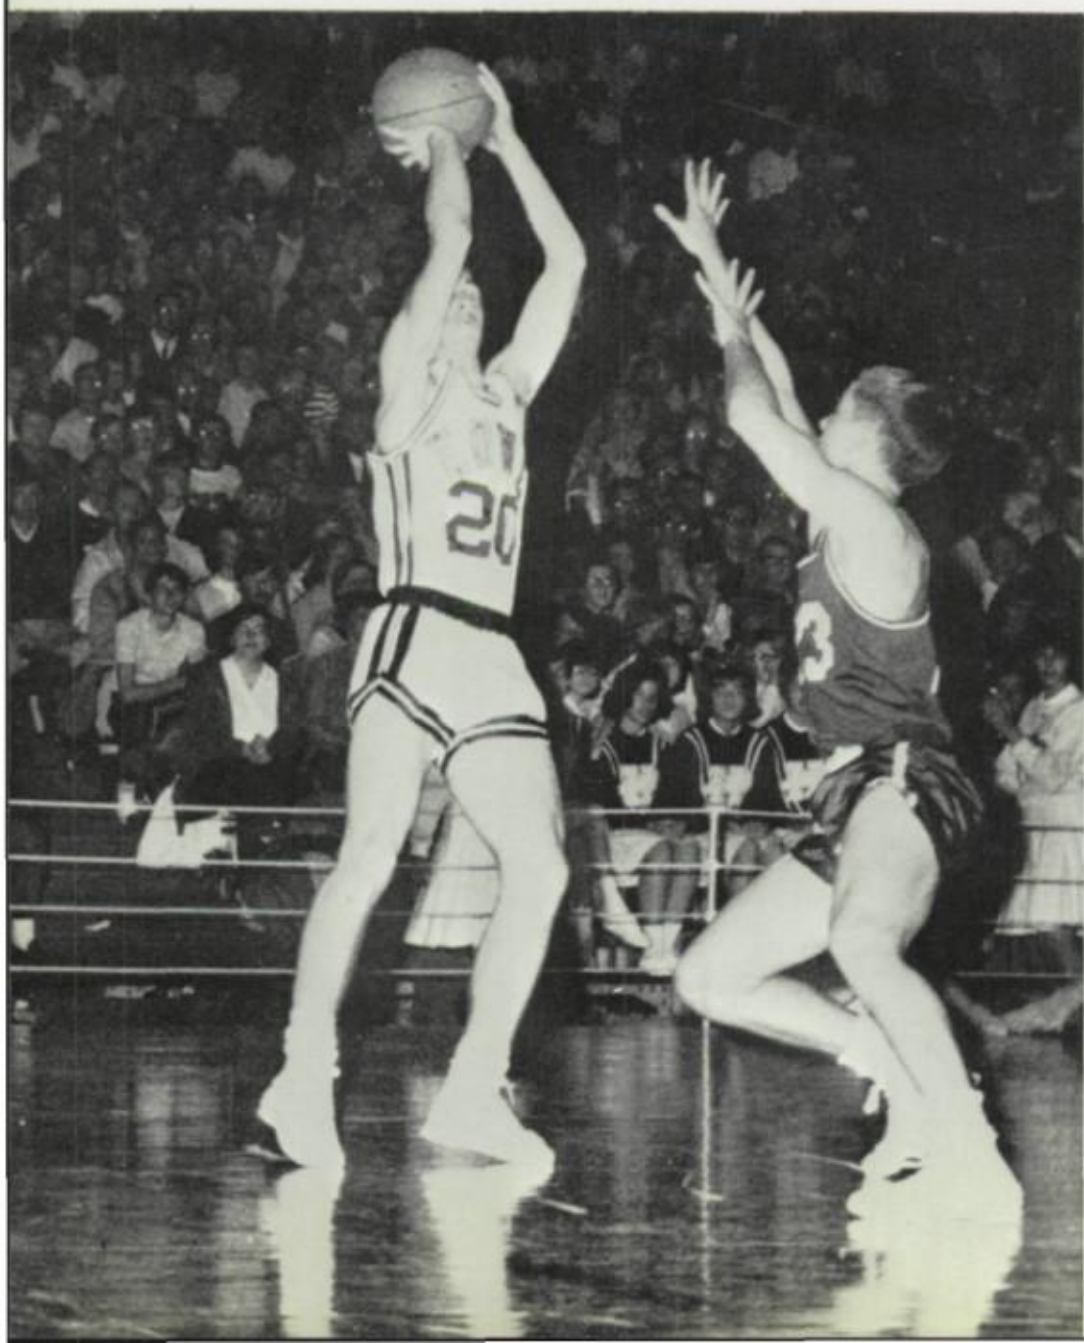

This meet, with Muncie Burris, marked a first in Howe's cross-country history. The meet was run at night between the halves of the Noblesville football game.

Senior forward, Jack Martin, leaps high into the air for an open jump shot to trim the Continental's lead.

Number One Rated Hornets Capture

City Champs! Sectional Champs! Rated Number One in the state in the Associated Press Poll! These are just a few of the many honors bestowed upon the Howe Hornets' 1965-1966 Basketball Team. With Coach Jim Stutz, voted the Marion County Coach of the Year, leading the way, the team rolled to a 23-3 season record. Along the way they picked up a City Championship, a Sectional Championship, and within one week two victories over arch-rival Tech. The two wins over Tech ended a nineteen year losing streak for the Hornets. The team's only losses came at the hands of Washington, Shelbyville and Beech Grove, all by a combined total of nine points. Lead by All-State Candidate Mike Noland and crafty floor general Dale Barrett, the Hornets ran up an eighteen game winning streak. Two-year veteran Jack Martin, first-year Senior Greg Hackett, and Junior Dave Miller rounded out the team. The Hornets were known throughout the state for their balanced team play.

Center Mike Noland leaps high to attempt to block this shot. Mike was the team's leading scorer and rebounder.

Mr. Kenneth Smartz, former Howe vice-principal, presents the 1966 City Champions with their individual awards.

For the first time in the history of the Indianapolis City Basketball Tourney, the Hornet five ended up with the championship. In previous years Howe had never been able to get past arch-rival Tech but the string was broken when Howe made it to the finals at the semester change this year. The road to victory began on Thursday with a win over Deaf School. Friday night Tech fell and Saturday afternoon it was Wood. Then Saturday night the net men knocked off number one Washington to take the crown.

Senior Greg Hackett takes a shot as teammates Mike Noland and Dale Barrett wait to see if a rebound is necessary.

Sophomore Steve Roller, gains an advantage over his opponent. Steve will be a valuable member of next year's squad.

Wrestling is a sport that requires a great deal of hard work, practice and determination. Long hours of daily practice are a must to the winning ways of a wrestler. The grappler improves with practice matches each day with other members of the team. This year's wrestling squad, coached by Mr. Krick, posted a 2-10 season record. The team was hurt by lack of experience as all but two of the team members were underclassmen. Mr. Krick used the season to his advantage, however, and spent the year rebuilding. This time was spent in helping the underclassman to learn the basic holds and fundamentals of the sport. Elected captain of this team was Bob Evans. The team placed 10th in the City Meet, with junior Bob Evans copping individual 2nd. The team managed an 8th place in the Sectional.

This year's winning track season marked an end to a wonderful era in Howe track history. Mr. Rex Anderson, who for eight years was head coach announced his retirement after a glowing record of achievements. During his final season, Mr. Anderson coached junior Mike Noland to first place in the City Meet and pole vaulter Ray Pier to a school record. Voted this year's team captain was Dave Husted. The Most Valuable Runner Award went to all-around spikester Bruce Spear. With the aid of experienced lettermen, and many talented underclassmen, the track future at Howe seems to have a bright outlook.

Senior Ray Pier easily clears the bar against stiff competition. Ray worked for four years to better himself and holds the school record at twelve feet five and one-half inches.

Mike Noland shows the correct form for a winning high jumper. He won the City Meet in his junior year. Mike wants to improve upon his record and is willing to work to do so.

The 1965 Howe Baseball season proved to be another successful one in Howe's glorious history. The team compiled a 15-6 won-lost season record. The team, coached by Mr. Schroder, was supposed to be in a year of rebuilding, but someone forgot to inform the Hornets. The squad opened with a six game winning streak and for the first four games did not give up a single run. They chalked up victories over Scecina, Attucks, Tech, Carmel, Broad Ripple, and Rushville before being beaten by Greenfield. They also posted victories over Zionsville, Southport, Chatard, Ben Davis, Warren Central, Shortridge, Wood, Lawrence Central and Manual. Larry Bishop won the MVP Award.

The Howe Tennis Team, comprised mainly of underclassmen, had a fair season with a season record of 5—6. Team captain Denny Deeter was also elected most valuable player by his teammates having the best individual record. Howe football coach Mr. Lester Mathieson served his first year as tennis coach and said that the team worked hard and wanted to win, as shown by many close scores. Though the team had a close season, they have much to look forward to next year with only two graduating seniors. With four of the first five racket men returning, we can surely be optimistic about Howe's future in tennis.

Although the 1965 Golf team was not dominated by underclassmen, a good future is in sight for the club men at Howe. A freshman, Brad Eshelman, became the first golfer ever to hit a hole-in-one in competition while Chuck Merriman and Mike Brown each hit an ace in practice. Chuck, a senior, was elected captain by his teammates while another senior, Steve Mullinix, was elected Most Valuable Player. Coach Jim Stutz, Varsity Basketball Coach as well as Golf Coach, completed his third year with the team whose record was 6-6-1.

Team captain Chuck Merriman, like his teammates, spent many afternoons practicing at Pleasant Run Golf Course.

John Graves and mathematics teacher Barton Richardson battle it out on a jump ball as the faculty team wins another.

For the fellows who can't quite make the team, the Howe athletic department sponsors intramural athletics including cross-country, basketball, and wrestling. In the fall Mr. Denny Krick, varsity wrestling coach, supervises the intra-mural cross-country competition. Each participant is required to have a prescribed amount of practice recorded before he can compete. When basketball season rolls around, the gym is reserved for intra-mural basketball on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, which probably involves more boys than any other single activity at Howe. Mr. Evan Mallenkopf sponsors the intra-mural basketball activities. Mr. Krick and assistant wrestling coach Robert Piercy are in charge of the annual intra-mural wrestling meet held at the end of the regulation varsity wrestling season.

Howe Is More Than Varsity Athletics

Mrs. Mercer and Mr. Patterson reign as Queen and King of the Senior-Faculty Game. The couple was crowned during half-time.

The annual Senior-Faculty Basketball Game was held in the Howe gym on Friday, March 11, 1966. The seniors were in usual high spirits and the proud class of '66 displayed practically every costume imaginable. But, when the game began, it was a different story. The fat men led and then stayed close for the majority of the first half. Then the seniors pulled away and were eventually triumphant, 75-54. The king and queen, Mr. Patterson and Mrs. Mercer were crowned at half-time.

Seniors Bruce Spear and George Prell battle the Fatman for a crucial rebound. The game was won by the Seniors, 75-54.

Team of Managers Seldom Seen

Mark Bradley, Tom Roda, Mr. Evans, and Steve Mitch sometimes find it necessary to hold strategy meetings such as this.

There is one team in Howe athletics that never competes in front of a crowd, but they always strive for perfection anyway. Sponsored by Mr. Don Evans, the Athletic Managers serve athletes in all sports the year round. Most managers spend their time issuing equipment, keeping statistics, and helping the coaches, but junior Tom Roda serves as trainer for all the teams and spends his time taping ankles and treating injuries.

ALBUM

The sun comes up and the sun goes down. So it goes with students at Howe. Beginning as freshmen, students live their roles and progress through the various stages to that ultimate . . . seniors readying for graduation. Leaving Howe the better for our having been here, we who share the joys, the trials, the growing pains of youth in this arena of challenge realize that it is really we who gain the most from this association. As surely as Newton's apple falls or tea stains the Boston harbor, so will this process continue in the hallowed halls of Howe . . . learning . . . growing . . . developing . . . changing . . . preparing . . .

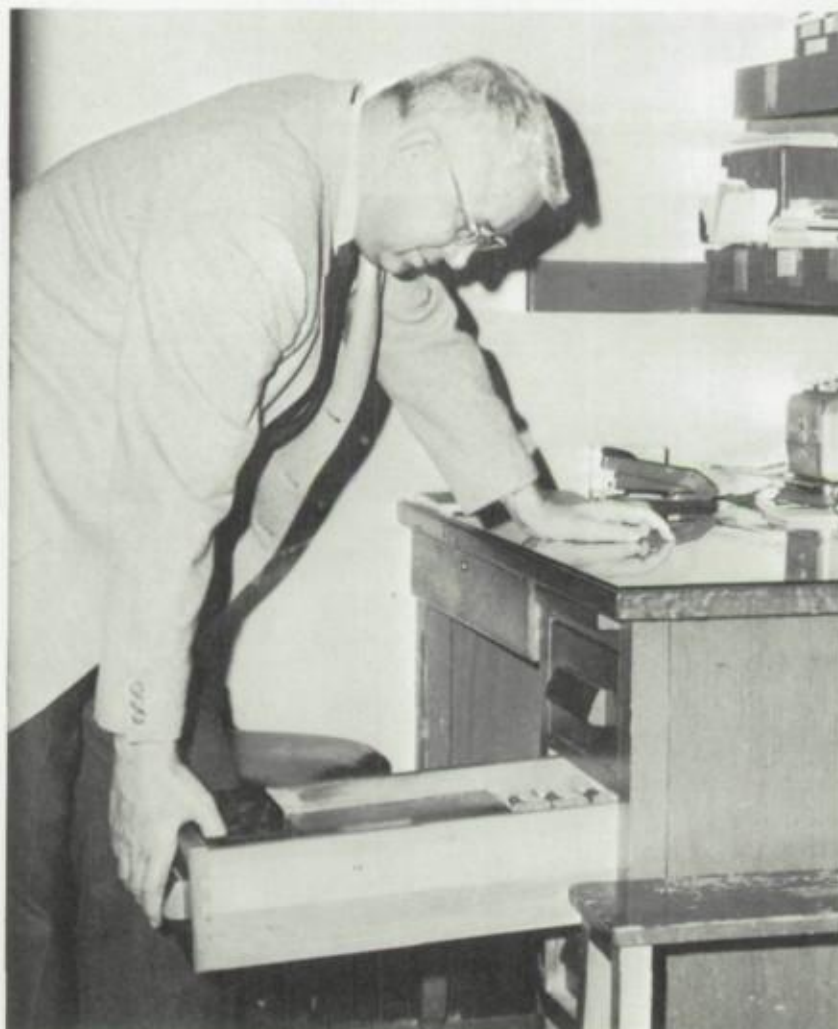

Capable Administrative Staff Sets

Mr. Stirling finds time to discuss problems with students and faculty. As principal, he has accomplished much towards making Howe an outstanding high school.

Managing finances and making the daily announcements are only two of Mr. Ruschhaupt's important tasks.

Howe has greatly advanced in scholastic drive with the present well qualified administrative staff. New ways to improve the curriculum and educational values are constantly being put into effect.

Three new counselors have been added in order to improve Howe's scholastic standing. Howe now has a counselor for all four grade levels.

As principal, Mr. Stirling strives to improve continually the quality of Howe by encouraging students to meet high academic goals. Mr. Tout serves our school by handling all program problems that arrive. Mr. Ruschhaupt aids Howe greatly by handling the school finances.

Howe has become a better school under this professional leadership.

Mr. Tout is in charge of student program planning. He keeps a watchful eye over Howe's Exploratory Teachers.

High Goals For Howe

Mr. Trinkle helps juniors to plan for their senior year by organizing their schedules. Being in charge of Business Managers is another duty of Mr. Trinkle.

Mr. Murray assists in promoting school morale and discipline. Checking boy's attendance daily is one of Mr. Murray's important tasks as Dean of Boys.

Thomas Stirling—Principal, Charles Ruschhaupt—Vice-Principal, Frank Tout—Vice-Principal, Mildred Loew—Dean of Girls, William Murray—Dean of Boys, Harold Crawford—Director of Guidance, Bob Carnal—Freshman Counselor, H. Thomas Totten—Sophomore Counselor, John W. Trinkle—Junior Counselor. These administrators serve by giving helpful advice.

Besides being Dean of Girls, Mrs. Loew is in charge of office messengers. She also assists the student council members by supervising meetings and committees.

School Is More Than Teachers

Pauline Tidemann and Doris Williams prepare for a busy day in the cafeteria.

Mary Applegate—English Office—P.B.X. Operator, Ruth Elder—Pupil Personnel Office, Norris Heidelberg—Secretary, Dorothy Heniser—Pupil Personnel Office, Clara Schaub—Administration Office, Vera Schmitz—Bookkeeper, Book Store Manager, Mary Schwier—Guidance Office, Eloise Steed—Registrar.

Howe is benefited greatly by its excellent office staff. These ladies keep the school running smoothly as they perform their office procedures. Maintenance personnel improve the school's appearance by carefully attending to their daily duties. Howe High School proudly boasts one of the city's finest school cafeterias. Under the watchful eye of Mrs. Helen Obery, cafeteria workers begin preparing the nourishing lunches early in the day. Improvements are achieved daily by school personnel.

And Students, Bricks And Mortar

The Men's 400 Club show their enthusiasm over the new stadium as they play an exhibition game of football with the male faculty members of Howe. These industrious men give their full support to all worthwhile projects at Howe.

Mrs. Frank Owings presides at a P.T.A. meeting as she discusses the principal objectives of the organization.

The Howe P.T.A. and Men's 400 Club are two very active organizations for parents of Howe students. These two groups give their support to many worthwhile school projects. One of their recent undertakings was the building of the Howe football stadium, which was a great success and is a proud asset to all who attend home games.

Members of both the P.T.A. and the 400 Club give much of their time in supporting not only Howe's athletic program but many other facets of school life. Such organizations benefit our school greatly.

P.T.A. members show spirit as they participate in the halftime show on Parent's Night in the football stadium.

The Largest Graduating Class, '67:

After school activities are supported by every class at Howe, and juniors are no exception. Refreshments are popular.

Junior often visit the Howe library when research themes are assigned. Chris Elliott leafs through encyclopedias.

Debbie and Donna York, John Hogan, and another interested junior, admire the class rings.

Many hours of work by students helped to make the school year a prosperous and enjoyable one. Grades had to be maintained; school functions were attended; and a general feeling of achievement accompanied every junior. The year was highlighted by the annual Brown and Gold dance in October, and the Turn About Twirl in spring. Curricular and extra curricular activities helped to fulfill a great and memorable junior year.

Willie Lenzy, a junior, is one of Howe's most promising athletes. In the Northwest game, Willie threw a pass which scored.

Enthusiastic Sophomores Show Eager

Insect nets, jars full of carbon-tetrachloride and a look of horror can distinguish the students who are collecting insects.

As students of English 3, sophomores find research themes a major requirement and helpful for college preparation.

Sophomores are the students who have luckily passed through the first year's grind of being a freshman. No longer will they suffer the embarrassment of having their books being shoved out of their arms in Exit 5. Now sophomores also have a chance to call someone an underclassmen. Besides the new benefits for sophomores socially, new curriculum subjects are offered that were not offered to freshmen. The fact that one whole year of high school has been completed is enough to make being a sophomore rewarding and enjoyable.

In advanced gym classes the students practice special techniques to improve their previously learned skills.

Experience Is Best Teacher For Frosh

Every year at Christmas each class decorates a window. Freshmen captured first with a Robert Frost poem as their theme.

As the doors of Howe open each fall, many doubtful freshmen arrive with high hopes. Soon they become a part of the routine in a new and different life. "Aid" is given by upperclassmen to help the freshies become familiar with Howe's "exclusive elevator", "heated pool", and "Free Lunch for Freshmen" program; but it is all in a joking spirit and looking to next year, they plot their tricks for the incoming unsuspecting freshmen.

Buying books is a process that freshmen like Jim Bennett must grow accustomed to while they are at Howe.

Getting acquainted with Howe is not an easy task. Barbara Tedrow directs freshmen to their lockers on their first day.

Two hands do not seem to be enough for this new freshman. Finding his locker and looking lost are part of his new life.

The Howe gym meet is an annual affair. The meet is open to everyone who displays gymnastic ability and agility.

Tenderloins, potato chips, pie, and milk are a typical "small" lunch. Lunch hours are everyone's favorite class.

Seniors' Goal Is Academic Achievement

Thomas Carr Howe High School is concerned with the scholastic level of the students in that it is one of the only twenty-two schools in the state with a Special First Class Commission. Demonstrating this interest in scholastic achievements, many Howe students excel in various fields: two seniors are Science Fair Regional winners; the American Legion Speech District has given honors to two pupils; and from the class of 1966, there are three National Merit Scholarship finalists and two National Honor Society finalists. Several boys are Military Academy nominees, and one girl received the Betty Crocker Home Economics Award. Many students participate in the Foreign Language Institutes. Each year with many more college scholarships to be announced later in the spring, Howe students will continue to strive for the high standards their school has earned.

As winner of the Betty Crocker Home Economics Award, Joyce Brandt exhibits a quality needed for a future homemaker.

Andy Hatcher, Allan Wood, and Abigail McWilliams were all National Merit Scholarship Finalists. Andy and Allan were National Honor Society Scholarship finalists. Gretchen Van Cleave won the Bausch and Lomb Science Award at Howe. She has taken four years of science—biology, chemistry, physics, and advanced biology and chemistry.

Party Decorated As "Snowflake Fantasy"

Senior counselor, Mr. Harold Crawford, helps refill the punch bowl as Mike Warren, a refreshment committee member, pours a serving of punch. The refreshments also consisted of snowflake cookies in accordance with the theme of "Snowflake Fantasy", which was appropriate for the snowy winter afternoon.

Andy Hatcher and Cheryl Carden enjoy themselves at the Senior Winter Party by learning a new dance step.

Living it up in their final year, the Seniors dress-up for their after-school Winter Party. This traditional dance is arranged entirely by the Senior class, and has become one of the favorite activities of the Senior year.

Graduation: A Step Toward The Future

Pam Barrett and every senior were measured for caps and gowns in preparation for that day of all days—Graduation Day with commencement exercises.

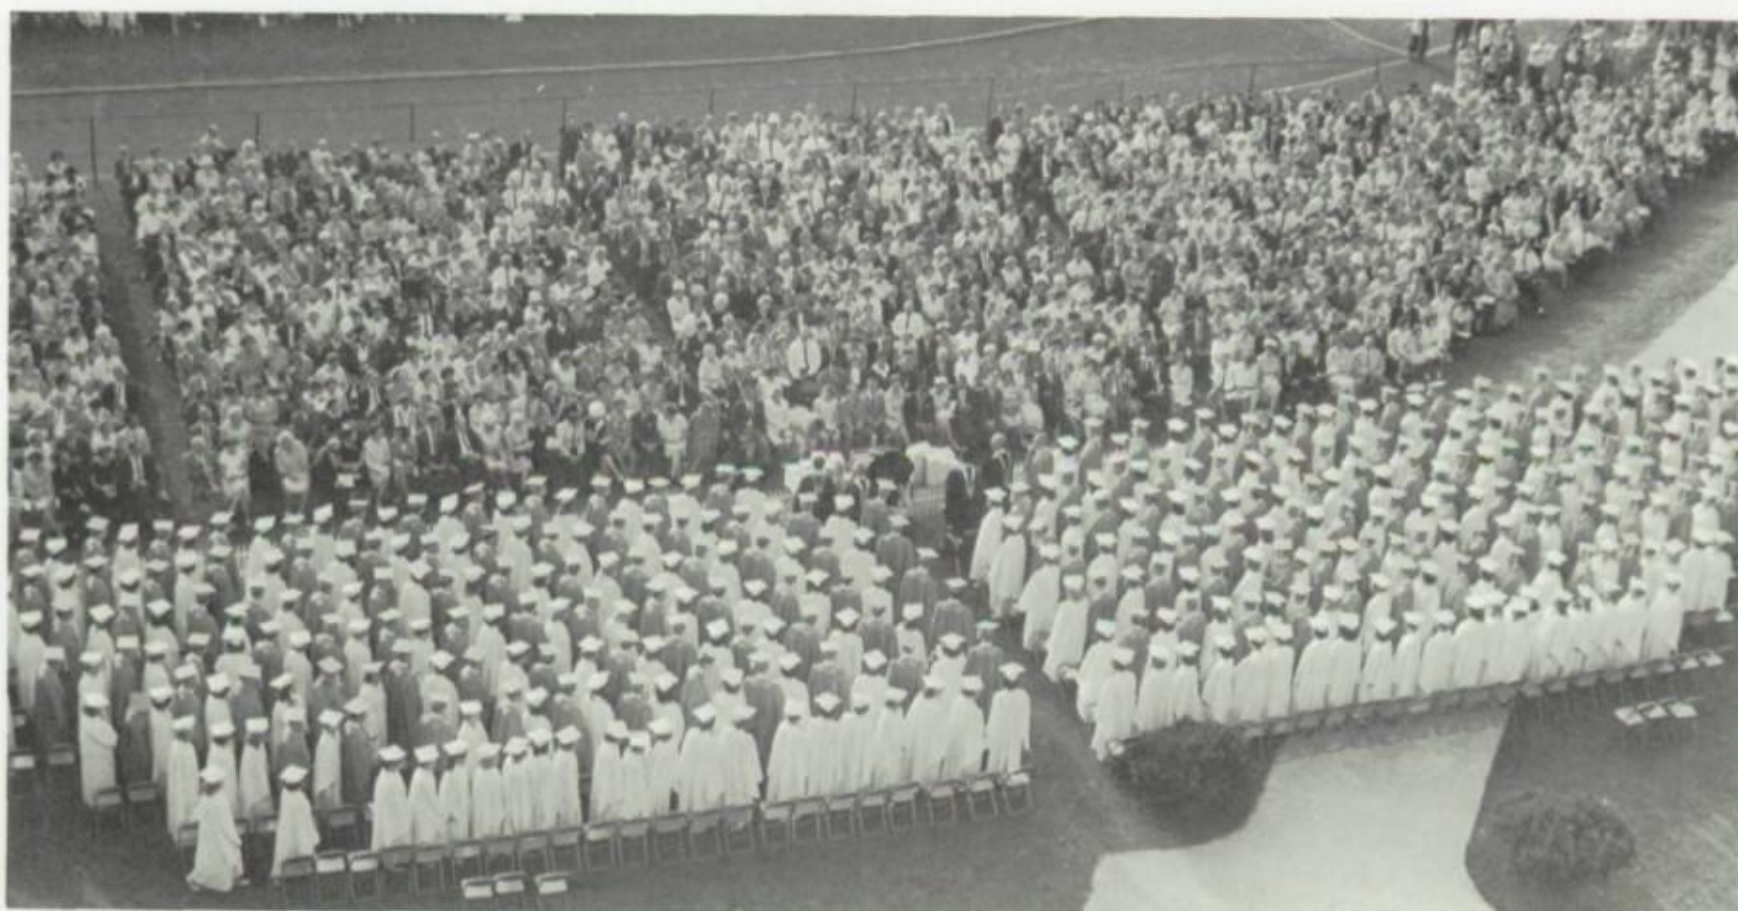

Each student who enters Howe awaits with eagerness and a touch of sadness to the day that is distinguished by dignified caps and gowns. This day is honored by the annual graduation ceremony on Howe's Violet Hill. To the rhythm of Pomp and

The senior class of 1966 began their numerous activities with a breakfast the last day of their junior year. In the fall after assignment to homeroom 8, seniors took college board tests and applied for jobs. Class officers were elected, the constitution was revised and senior colors of light blue, copen blue, and moss green were distributed at the winter party, which was held after school.

Before seniors realized it, commencement was here. As they marched down the steps to the familiar tune of "Pomp and Circumstance," they knew they would miss their friends and the accustomed way of life.

Many people will go out into the world to make something of themselves. These people were seniors; now they are adults, and all they have are remembrances. Thomas Carr Howe High School is memories; memories of people who have made Howe what it is, and now these people are memories. These seniors have made a name for themselves not to be forgotten. Next year's seniors lie in the shadow of this name, which indicates great accomplishments.

Circumstances, the graduating seniors march out and take their seats. This day will always remain a warm spot in every senior's heart because after receiving his diploma, he realizes that his hard work has not been in vain.

The Senior Colors Committee for 1966 includes L. Dickerson, J. Hague, B. Tedrowe, A. Wood, L. Bishop, E. Pritchard, P. McClain, C. Cole, and L. Mount. They met during home-room period for the first few weeks of school.

Senior Year Is Enjoyed To The Utmost

Charlie Deeter ends one of the senior autumn activities by roasting a hot dog for Anita Wood at a hayride.

"Senioritis" strikes again! Dale Barrett and Mark Gerzon are not excluded. Even a straw, an old fishing hat, and a dime store pipe will make Saturday nights more exciting.

Class officers were elected in the fall by continual elimination. They spent one period each day in the senior office under the advice of senior counselor, Mr. Harold Crawford. This year one office was added—that of second vice-president. With a larger class, the constitution committee felt another office was needed.

Each officer holds a respectable and admirable position. All business is transacted for the class by the officers. President Dale Barrett presides over all class meetings and appoints all committees. Vice-Presidents Sue Amick and Max Utter are in charge of class publicity and the commencement committee. Secretary Charlotte Bassett is responsible for class correspondence. Treasurer Bruce Spear collects dues and keeps account of them. Mary Beth Otto, Alumni Secretary, prepares for the distribution of alumni cards and is obligated to attend alumni meeting in person.

With the graduation of the class of 1966 another school year is ended. And with its completion the freshmen look to sophomore insect collections, the sophomores await a junior prom, and juniors naively look forward to their senior year. Thus the future is anxiously anticipated but also the past is remembered. A first-time home football stadium, a professional musical, "The King and I", and an exceptional basketball team and season were Howe 1966.

The 1966 HILLTOPPER staff has endeavored to make this record as accurate and complete as possible, so that the year 1966, the class 1966, and Howe 1966 will be remembered—always!
